Truce Efforts Fail At Struck Indiana Plant

Auto Workers Union Warns Of Possible Renewed Violence

NEW CASTLE, Ind., Oct. 6 (AP)—Truce efforts bogged down today at the struck Perfect Circle Corp. foundry and the CIO-United Auto Workers warned of possible renewed violence at the small plant, ringed by National Guardsmen.

International representative William F. Caldwell told a public meeting that thousands of Indiana unionists are poised to march against the three-story brick foundry if it reopens for production. Eight persons were shot in such a march yesterday.

In reply, Perfect Circle's attorney, Clyde Hoffman, told Mayor Paul F. McCormack:

Police Closed Plant

State police closed the plant Wednesday as 5,000 angry, shouting sympathizers with the UAW-CIO strikers converged from throughout the state on the 100 nonstrikers armed and barricaded inside the foundry.

The company admitted it stocked the plant with firearms. But it said this was a protective measure taken with the full knowledge of law enforcement authorities.

Gov. George N. Craig, at the urgent request of McCormack, sent the Indiana National Guard in here shortly after midnight. About 600 Guardsmen took over this east central city of 18,000.

After truce talks broke off, Mayor McCormack told newsmen he intended to keep the National Guard in town over the weekend so there would be no attempt to open the plant before the first of the week.

Road Blockades Set Up

"We want to let this thing simmer down," the mayor declared.

He added he had no immediate plans for bringing union and management together again.

Armed Guardsmen set up road blockades around the plant and surrounded it with infantrymen. Two half tracks with weapons guarded the entrance. Two tanks were held in reserve.

There was no disorder today.

All public gatherings — political meetings, athletic contests, dances —were banned. Liquor sales were halted. Otherwise the city was normally busy.

September Job Record Posted

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today employment in September reached a record level for that month and a survey indicates a further job rise in the months ahead.

Mitchell withheld the precise figures until next week but told a news conference they would show:

1. September employment to be higher than any other September in history, although a bit lower than the record 65½ million employed in August. He said the August-September decline was due to students returning to school after summer jobs.

2. Another cut in unemployment from the 2,237,000 August figure.

3. A record high in weekly earnings of factory workers, primarily due to longer working hours.

Mitchell also announced results of the Labor Department's bimonthly manpower survey covering 149 major labor market areas. It showed that 20 areas have experienced "significant reductions in unemployment" since July, while only one—Ponce, Puerto Rico — showed rising unemployment.

Adlai Seen Nominee

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP) — Sen. Walter George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said today he believes the Democratic party will again nominate Adlai Stevenson as its presidential candidate in 1956.

Soviet Frees 24 Hitler Generals

Ex-POWs Reach West Germany

GOETTINGEN, Germany, Oct. 6 (AP)—Twenty-four travel-worn generals of Hitler's World War II army returned to West Germany tonight after a decade in the Soviet Union as prisoners of war.

They were the first of 9,626 German prisoners of war whose freedom was promised by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin at the September conference in Moscow with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The officers arrived at Herleshausen, on the West German frontier aboard an East German train. Another general and seven unidentified soldiers reportedly got off the train in East Germany.

Four Full Generals

The 24 reaching Herleshausen included four full generals, all captured on the Russian front. They were identified as:

Ehrenfried Boege, commander of Hitler's 18th Army; Siegfried Henrici, commander of the 40th Panzer Corps; Fritz Gollwitzer, commander of the 13th Infantry Corps, and Walter von Seydlitz-Kurbach, commanding general of the 60th Corps.

Names of the other 20 were not immediately announced.

West German government officials, Red Cross workers, relatives and friends gathered to meet them. Nurses were on hand to bring them to Camp Friedland, a returnee reception center near here.

More Returnees Expected

The West Germans said they were informed of the all-officer transport only a few hours earlier today. The word was passed along by Soviet officials at Herleshausen, where arrangements were made with Red Cross and government officials for return of the war prisoners.

German border authorities said 32 other German POWs will be returned tomorrow, 32 on Saturday and 600 the following day.

Some of the 9,626 prisoners will be returned directly to their former homes in what now is East Germany.

French Premier Battles To Save His Government

PARIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Premier Edgar Faure, striving to save his wobbly government, called on the National Assembly tonight to back his moderate policy for French Morocco.

"I have faith in my formula as a means of building French-Moroccan friendship," Faure told the deputies.

Critics are free to criticize his plan, he said, but if it does not go through they may have to find a program to replace it.

Four Ministers Dropped

Faure dropped four Gaullist ministers who refused to accept his plans for Morocco—pegged to the creation of a three-man regency council to replace an unpopular Sultan now retired in Tangier—and parried threats from other ministers who were being pressured to quit.

Tonight Faure opened debate on the government's measures to end the bloody strife in Morocco, where nationalist demands for home rule clash with the desire of French colonists to keep close rein on the territory. His Cabinet has authorized him to ask a vote of confidence. Defeat on that vote—perhaps Monday—would spell the end of his seven-month-old regime.

Two-Front Threat

Faure told the deputies "a great action has developed against our country" on both the diplomatic front and in North Africa. He referred to the U. N. General Assembly's decision 28-27 last Friday to debate the issue of home rule for Algeria, which the French regard as part of their homeland, and to bloodshed set off by mountain tribesmen in northern and eastern Morocco.

Pierre Koenig, defense minister; Gaston Palewski, minister with special powers delegated by the Premier; Raymond Triboulet, minister for veterans affairs; and Maurice Bayrou, secretary of state in the Ministry for Overseas Territories, were the ministers who left the government.

Nixon Presides Over 2½-Hour NSC Meeting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—Vice President Nixon presided over a 2½ hour meeting of the National Security Council today and lunched afterward with several members of the White House staff.

Eighteen officials attended the meeting. They included four Cabinet members—Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

Two Boys Perish In Trunk Used In 'Space Ship' Game

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 6 (AP)—Police quoted a 10-year-old boy today as saying he locked his younger brother and a playmate in a trunk in the attic while the three were playing "Space Ship."

The two were dead when the trunk was opened this morning.

Assistant Police Chief Raymond J. Eagan quoted James Primicerio, 10 as giving the following story:

While playing in the attic of the Primicerio home here yesterday, the two got in the trunk and closed it. James locked it about 4:30 p.m. and went out to play, leaving his brother Dominick, 9, and Daniel Bencivenga, 8, in the trunk.

Eagan said the boy told police he came back in the house about 7 p.m., opened the trunk, felt the boys' faces, found them warm and closed the trunk without locking it.

Late this morning, James told his mother the two missing boys might be in the attic.

Eagan said the boy would be turned over to juvenile authorities pending a coroner's inquest into the deaths.

Eagan estimated that if the boys were in the trunk at 4:30 p.m. they were probably dead by 7 p.m.

Daniel and Dominick were classmates in the fourth grade.

Coroner James J. Corrigan said he planned no psychiatric examination for James, but he added the juvenile court would have jurisdiction over the case after his finding.

Nixon To Visit Ike; President Still On Mend

Non-Controversial Topics To Be Taken Up At Conference

DENVER, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Denver White House announced today that Vice President Nixon will fly here Saturday for a hospital visit with President Eisenhower at the President's invitation.

Nixon will fly here with Sherman Adams, the President's chief deputy; Maj. John Eisenhower, the President's son; and Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist, for the weekend.

White House press secretary James C. Hagersty said he did not know what Nixon would discuss with the President but he added it would not be "a visit where controversial policies" would be taken up.

President Still Improves

The announcement came at an 11 a. m. Denver time news conference which brought another cheerful bulletin on the President's condition.

Hagersty said that the President sent an invitation to Nixon to visit him through Adams at the time he wrote the vice president a few days ago to continue presiding over Cabinet and National Security Council meetings.

The conference, Hagerty made clear, would be limited to topics cleared in advance by the presidential physicians. Secretary of State Dulles may visit the President sometime next week for a talk before going to the foreign ministers' meeting at Geneva, but this has not been definitely determined.

New Check-Up Planned

Dr. White has been in daily consultation on the case of the 64-year-old President since rushing to Denver to examine the chief executive immediately after his Sept. 24 heart attack.

White and the doctors here will make another complete check-up on Eisenhower this weekend. Out of their consultations is expected to come a determination of the course of treatment from then on and decisions on the extent to which the President may step up the pace of conferences and official government business.

The Good Old Days

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—The good old days, when roast beef was 30 cents a portion at the Astor House, are on display at the New York Historical Society in an exhibit of 10,000 old menus.

One of them showed that Bucklin's Wheat Cheer Hotel in San Francisco during the 1850s would put you up for 25 cents a night. Beefsteak, onions and fried potatoes were 10 cents.

Signal Is Given To Start Building Space Satellite

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Defense Department has given industry the signal to start building a space satellite for "Project Vanguard."

It announced today that "work has begun" on the project with the awarding of a primary contract to Glenn L. Martin Co., builders of airplanes and research rockets, with another to General Electric Co., for building the first stage of the series of rocket motors for the space flier.

The Navy, assigned as the management agency for the project, is expected to award a series of other contracts, both major and subcontracts, for designing and fabricating the multitude of parts in the first, small test satellite and the complex launching and data-gathering instrument system.

But even though contracts are now being let for the joint civilian-military scientific research program, neither the Pentagon experts nor any other officials have decided yet the exact shape and size of the first space roamer.

There have been predictions it would approximate the size of a basketball. Today's announcement said only that it would be "small," but large enough to contain instruments to send back reports on its orbiting journey 300 miles above the earth.

Other sources have indicated that it probably would be months, possibly late this year or early next year, before scientists could settle on an exact design.

Argentine Note Urges Paraguay Get Rid Of Peron

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 6 (AP) — Argentina's government advised Paraguay today to get rid of Juan D. Peron and send him out of South America altogether.

In a stiff note, the Foreign Ministry said Peron's continued exile in neighboring Paraguay could "awaken in him dreams of returning to power which would be dangerous even though senseless."

Argentina cited newspaper reports quoting a Peron statement that he still considers himself constitutional president of Argentina.

The note said the new government headed by Eduardo Lonardi is "fully consolidated and no danger exists that Argentina will return to the previous state of affairs."

But, it said, "there is no doubt that ex-President Peron's presence in a country of the continent can give rise to vexing complications. . . . The Argentine government considers that Gen. Peron's withdrawal to any other country outside this continent will redound to the benefit of internal Argentine tranquility."

A dispatch from Asuncion said there was no immediate reaction from the Paraguayan government.

Paraguay's President Alfredo Stroessner told reporters yesterday his country would carry out strictly its duties in granting Peron asylum.

South Vietnamese To Vote On Leader

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Oct. 6 (AP)—South Viet Nam will hold a national referendum Oct. 23 to decide whether ex-Emperor Bao Dai or Premier Ngo Dinh Diem shall be chief of state, the government announced tonight.

Interior Minister Bui Van Tinh made the announcement before several thousand civil servants and representatives of the army in Saigon City Hall.

The South's 11 million will be asked to decide whether Bao Dai, the absentee chief of state, shall be replaced by Diem. The answer is virtually certain. It is expected to result in the permanent erasure of Bao Dai from the Vietnamese political scene.

Marines Unveil New Flame-Thrower Tank

QUANTICO, Va., Oct. 6 (AP) —The Marines showed off a deadly new flame-throwing tank, the T67, today.

The vehicle, essentially the Army's M48 tank with a flame-throwing kit added, threw tongues of searing flame more than 20 yards to set log bunkers afire.

The heat was so intense that probably nobody inside the underground bunker could have survived.

Actor Vic Mature Flies From London To U. S. For Shower

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Film actor Victor Mature flew in today from England—to get a shower bath.

Mature left London last night six hours after he arrived there from movie-making in Africa.

"They had everything ready, cocktail party and all, except a room with a shower," said Vic. "I was so annoyed, so I came here to get a shower."

Clad in a trench coat, mussed sports jacket, soiled flannel slacks and sheepskin slippers, Mature said his only luggage was a passport, toothbrush and a pack of cigarets.

The actor asserted he would be back in London Monday morning for 12 days of filming.

Two Navy Jets Collide, Crash

HEBRON, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Two Navy jet planes crashed about three miles apart tonight apparently after colliding and exploding in air over this tiny Eastern Shore town.

A Navy spokesman said one of the pilots telephoned his base apprently after parachuting to safety. There was no immediate word of the other pilot.

The planes were based at the Patuxent Naval Air Station.

A spokesman at the nearby Chincoteague Naval Air Station said the jets apparently collided at about 30,000 feet above Hebron.

The canopy of one plane and other wreckage was found in a field about one mile southwest of here and State Police and firemen were looking for its pilot.

The other plane was not located but the pilot reported by telephone he was safe.

Three Convicts Staging Sitdown 100 Feet In Air

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6 (AP)—Three convicts staged a sit down strike today—100 feet in the air on the structural framework of a 13,000 gallon water tank inside Western State Penitentiary grounds.

From shouts to persons below, the trio indicated they wanted a transfer to Eastern State Penitentiary at Philadelphia. They didn't say why, but all three have been transferred here from Eastern penitentiary during the past few months.

Warden Frank C. Johnston said he'd "let 'em sit." And, when they come down, he added, there won't be any transfer.

Johnston said no attempt would be made to force the men down. He counted on hunger and thirst to force them to the ground.

The men climbed up an interlacing steel framework between four steel pillars supporting the tank. They took up positions on a catwalk which has a railing and is wide enough for them to sit or lie down.

Nearly 1,000 other convicts took little notice of the perchers.

The men climbed up the tank during a recreation period this morning and they were still there late tonight. The tank was illuminated with spotlights.

French Military Forces Quelling Morocco Revolt

RABAT, Morocco, Oct. 6 (AP) — French military forces seemed slowly mastering the Riff rebellion today as Premier Edgar Faure prepared to fight for his government's life back in Paris.

But while some rebels came in groups with white flags to surrender, French officers reported they were encountering "reticence" in other areas. Many of the warlike Berber horsemen were just vanishing back into the mountains with their weapons. That meant fighting could flare up again at any moment in the wilder desert areas.

Leniency For Rebels

For the present Resident Gen. Peirre de Latour du Mouhn seemed more anxious to gain the rebels' confidence by generous treatment than to pursue them with reprisals. Those who asked pardon were required only to surrender their arms and allowed to go.

The ringleaders were being pitilessly hunted down, however.

Spokesmen in Rabat said areas where the tribesmen seemed reluctant to surrender were in the middle Atlas range near the Algerian frontier, rather than along the northern border with the Spanish Morocco zone. They named especially the regions of Almisdes-Marmouchas, 15 miles southeast of Immouzer des Marmouchas, scene of recent hard fighting southeast of Fez, and Meskedal in the same area.

Cleanup Operation

A cleanup operation was reported near the Spanish zone border, with two French columns thrusting in a pincer movement from the encircled outposts of Aknoul and Boured to free the threatened post of Tizi Ouzli. Contact was twice established with Tizi Ouzli by armored convoys yesterday and the wounded have been evacuated by helicopters. The aim is now to drive off the rebels encircling the post and free the road for normal traffic.

DC4 Smashed To Fragments Against Peak

Rescuers, At Scene Near Laramie, Wyo., Fight Snow, Wind

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 6 (AP)—A four-engine United Air Lines DC4 plunged into the face of a sheer mountain peak today and all 66 persons aboard, including a crew of three, were killed.

It was the worst commercial airline crash in United States' history.

First rescuers to reach the chilled scene atop 12,005-foot Medicine Bow Peak, among them Maj. Gerald Downey of the Wyoming Civil Air Patrol and state patrolman Ben Butler, said they found about 50 bodies strewn along a 300-foot course down the face of the mountain.

One rescuer, Vance Lucas, of Buffalo, Wyo., said he climbed to the top of the peak and there found a bit of wreckage, scattered mail, a man's topcoat and part of the plane's instrument panel.

Plane Disintegrates

The westbound plane shattered itself against the peak about 50 to 75 feet from the top. The mountain is about 40 miles west of here in the Snowy Range.

Howling winds, which some officials said may have contributed to the tragedy, caused Sheriff John Terrill of Carbon County, in charge of rescue operations, to call off efforts to retrieve the bodies at dusk.

He ordered all rescuers off the face of the steep mountain and down to a base camp slightly more than a mile away.

Lower Bodies By Winch

Terrill said the mountain-trained parties, supplied during the evening and night with special gear, would start lowering the bodies by winch apparatus tomorrow. He said they would be brought to the University of Wyoming's summer scientific lodge about six miles from the scene for identification.

The toll, at first believed 65, was increased by one tonight when United officials added the name of Debbie Tucker, the infant daughter of one of the victims.

The scene, littered with bits of wreckage, bodies, clothing and cargo, was marked by two huge patches of oil where the plane's engines apparently struck the peak.

The wreckage then slid down the steep incline in two ravines, much of it coming to rest 300 feet down on a small glacier.

Airliner Behind Schedule

Rescuers said the largest sections of the plane remaining intact were a part of one wing and a vertical stabilizer with UAL's red, white and blue colors, halfway down the peak.

The plane left Denver at 6:33 a.m. Thursday, one hour and 23 minutes behind schedule. It had been delayed in its flight from the East.

It was due to arrive in Salt Lake City at 9:06 a.m. The final destination was San Francisco.

Among the passengers were six and perhaps seven members of the Mormon Tabernacle choir returning from a European concert tour. Also reported aboard were five basic airmen who were sworn into the Air Force Wednesday at Denver. They were en route to Park Air Force Base, California.

Crash Worst In U. S. Commercial Aviation History

[By The Associated Press]

The apparent toll of 66 dead in the Wyoming crash of a United Airlines plane yesterday (Thursday) is the worst in the history of commercial aviation in the United States.

The record toll for a scheduled air line was 58—when a Northwest Airlines plane crashed into Lake Michigan June 24, 1950.

The next highest toll for scheduled lines was 55, in a collision of a fighter plane and an Eastern Airliner over Washington, D. C., on Nov. 1, 1949.

Among nonscheduled air lines, 56 persons died in the crash of a Miami plane Dec. 16, 1951, shortly after taking off from Newark, N. J., for Florida.

Overseas, the greatest toll for a commercial plane was 80 killed in a crash near Cardiff, Wales, March 12, 1950.

Clashing Views Mark Author's Contempt Trial

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP) — Opposing lawyers in the contempt trial of Harvey O'Connor today pitted their arguments for freedom of belief against those claiming wide government powers to protect the national security.

O'Connor, 58, an author, was indicted for contempt of Congress after he had refused to tell the Senate Investigations subcommittee whether he had been a member of the Communist party at the time he wrote books later bought for the State Department's overseas libraries.

Federal Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy, trying the case without a jury, called for written briefs before he makes a decision. He gave the defense until Oct. 17, the government until Oct. 24.

O'Connor's trial ended in its third day with Asst. U.S. Atty. William Hitz contending no citizen has a right to refuse to answer questions important to the national security.

Defense Counsel Gerhard P. Van Arkel, however, said the right of men to privacy in their own beliefs and political opinion underlay Western civilization and should not be sacrificed to a senator's ambitions "for power and glory."

Van Arkel was referring to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), who was chairman of the Senate subcommittee in July 1953 when O'Connor refused to say whether he had been a member of the Communist party or the "Communist conspiracy."

O'Connor did not invoke the Fifth Amendment's protection against possible self-incrimination. Instead, in a challenge to the subcommittee's authority, he said: "Under the First Amendment to the Constution, my writings, my books, and my political opinions are of no legitimate concern to this committee."

He testified at the trial he does not believe any congressional committee has a right to ask him if he has been a member of the Communist party. McCarthy, a principal government witness, said O'Connor has been "a paid Communist propagandist."

Indonesians Ordered To Vote Second Time

JAKARTA, Indonesia, Oct. 6 (AP) —The District Elections Committee of Central Java tonight ordered millions of Indonesians to vote a second time because of unspecified "irregularities and illegal activities."

The area involved includes the provincial capital of Semarang and the towns of Surakarta, Kudus, Pakalongan, Djepara and Pemalang. Central Java was the scene of one of the biggest sweeps by the victorious Communist-oriented Indonesian Nationalist party.

Nearly nine million out of ten million registered votes have been tabulated unofficially in Central Java with the Nationalists holding a million vote lead over each of the other three major parties—the Moslem Orthodox Radicals, the Communists and the pro-West Moslem Masjumi.

Ike Sports Call Brings Warning

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A committee of children's doctors today issued a warning in connection with President Eisenhower's recent call for more emphasis on competitive sports as a means of improving the physical fitness of American youth.

Two members of the committee told reporters they did not know "exactly what the President had in mind" but that the statement, which they said was given in news accounts, "is open to being interpreted as condoning high pressure competition" for children 12 and under. They declared this is harmful.

"Some recreational leaders could just run away with a statement like that, and figure that everything should be highly organized, high pressure competition," Dr. J. L. Reichert of Chicago, chairman, and Dr. George Masim of Washington, D. C., of the Committee on School Health of the American Academy of Pediatrics told reporters.

Frances Langford Weds Manufacturer

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Singer Frances Langford and manufacturer Ralph Evinrude were married today aboard Evinrude's yacht, the "Chanticleer," cruising in Long Island Sound.

It is a second marriage for both.

The Rev. Joseph Huntley of the Broadway Congregational Church of New York City officiated. Some 30 friends of the couple attended.

Miss Langford was given away by her manager, Charles Z. Wick. Her friend and secretary, Mary Kellogg, was maid of honor.

Evinrude, 48, is vice chairman of the Outboard, Marine and Mfg. Co., of Milwaukee, founded by his father.

About 12,000 taxicabs are in operation in New York City.

First Male Nurse Is Commissioned By Armed Forces

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—A 6 foot 5 Army private today became the first commissioned male nurse in Uncle Sam's armed services.

The private, Edward L. T. Lyon, 25, Kings Park, N.Y., was sworn in as a second lieutenant of the Army Nurse Corps by Brig. Gen. Harold W. Glattly, 1st Army surgeon.

Legislation sponsored by Rep. Frances Bolton (R-Ohio) and passed by Congress this year made the step possible. Previously only female nurses were commissioned, although some enlisted men have served in the nurse corps.

Truman Hopes To Be Convention Delegate

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman today evaded questions about whom he will support for the Democratic nomination for president next year but said he hopes to be a delegate to his party's national convention.

He told a news conference he is "still a friend" of Adlai Stevenson, but as to whether he will support Stevenson again for the nomination, he said:

"I'll answer that at the Democratic convention."

River Levels Off At Tampico; New Threat Arises

TAMPICO, Mexico, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Panuco River leveled off overnight, bringing hope to this flood-devastated oil port and the surrounding area where, by unofficial count 326 persons have perished.

This was conditioned, however, by reports of heavy rains to the west flooding the Zempoal River, a tributary of the Panuco. Red Cross officials said a new crest is expected within 24 hours.

This threat of another rise and lack of drinking water and food spurred efforts to evacuate persons still living in the small part of Tampico remaining above water. A Mexico City newsman reported two incidents of rioting yesterday among refugees clamoring for drinking water.

At 5 a.m. a fleet of 14 helicopters from the U.S. aircraft carrier Saipan, anchored off Tampico, started airlifting flood victims to the airport built on high ground. From there passenger planes flew them to refugee centers in Mexico's interior.

Tampico, a city with a normal population of 110,000 now swollen by 55,000 to 70,000 refugees from the surrounding coastal plain, is almost inundated. All but three of the city's stores are under water.

Government officials said reports of the Zempoal River's overflow posed the danger that houses already flooded on the edge of Tampico's isolated center might be collapsed by the force of the current.

All Nine Criminally Insane Escapees Are Recaptured

WESTON, W. Va., Oct. 6 (AP) — State Police said tonight that all nine criminally insane inmates who escaped from Weston State Hospital sometime last night were back in custody.

Sgt. P. E. Ebbert reported that 31-year-old Frank Earl Brown of Shaw, Fayette County, was the last of the group to be rounded up. He was apprehended at Rockford, a rural Harrison County community, about 8 p.m.

Otherwise, Ebbert said, the escapees were recaptured within five or six miles of the hospital.

Five of the nine had been returned to custody by late this afternoon. A force of 25 state policemen, augmented by other officers and authorities of the hospital, had pressed the search for the others.

Capt. J. M. Johnson of the State Police reported the nine inmates effected their escape in a group from the ward for the criminally insane, sometime between 9 p. m. last night and 3:40 a. m. today.

Ship Is Diverted For Mercy Mission

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A transport, diverted from its course, headed today toward a Pacific rendezvous 750 miles southwest of San Francisco in response to a weak radio report from a schooner that a woman on board is in critical condition from a fall, unable to eat since two weeks ago.

The Coast Guard also sent two planes out to search for the 62-foot schooner Manuiwa. One, an amphibian, carried medical supplies including plasma and a medical corpsman.

Demos In GOP Stronghold Set For Fund Drive

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6 (AP)—The Democrats in the traditional Republican stronghold of little suburban Radnor Township launch their fourth annual "Peoples Fund" tomorrow—a grass roots effort to collect political campaign funds from every registered party voter.

The Democrats hope to raise $600 or more in the Delaware County community where party Chairman Mrs. Blanche D. Browning says "There's never been a Democrat elected—unless it was an Indian."

And, what's more, she doesn't think there's a ghost of a chance a Democrat will be elected in next month's vote contests for Delaware County and Radnor Township offices—but that isn't the point of her fund raising campaign.

"It's terribly important," she says, "in view of the increasing cost of political campaigns, that the people support the political parties. Then it wouldn't be special interest groups doing all the contributing."

The idea has received considerable support from some political theorists. Its most outspoken proponent on the national level is Philip L. Graham, president and publisher of the Washington Post and Times Herald.

He has proposed a campaign to convince Americans that good citizenship requires contributors by each citizen to the party or candidates of his choice, just as it requires donations to the Community Fund.

When individual citizens fail to recognize their responsibility, he says, they "force politicians to live in close connection with the filthy power of gangsters and the acquisitive power of special interest groups."

If each of 16 million American families could give $5, Graham adds, the total would equal 80 million dollars—enough "to revolutionize American politics."

Just for the record: there are about 700 registered Democrats in the township, compared to about 3,000 Republicans.

Guatemala Oil "Spot"

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6 (AP)—American oil firms are showing a "tremendous amount of interest" in oil exploration rights in Guatemala, a Guatemalan government oil consultant says.

Norman Meyers, a member of the law firm which helped prepare Guatemala's new oil code, said a "half dozen" American firms already have representatives on the spot in Guatemala.

ESB Will Audit Payrolls Of All State Employers

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6 (AP) — The Maryland Employment Security Board announced today it soon will start an audit of payroll records of all employers in the state to make sure they are paying their unemployment compensation taxes.

It has never been done before.

Robert B. Kimble, chairman of the board, disclosed the plan at a conference of industry and labor representatives who have been called in to talk about a proposed reorganization of the Employment Security Department.

"We now have plans in preparation to set up an auditing division to start auditing payrolls of all employers in the State," Kimble announced.

"We are going to make sure that every employer is paying every dollar of tax—no more or no less.

"The board must know and those employers who pay their full tax are entitled to be assured that all other employers are paying their share."

The board's records show there are 45,696 employers in Maryland who should be paying unemployment compensation taxes.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30, the taxes amounted to $10,741,188.

As of Oct. 1 there was a $107,430,000 balance in the fund for paying unemployment benefits.

Kimble disclosed the audit during a discussion of steps to be taken to detect fraudulent claims for compensation and recover the money involved.

The board has estimated it paid out about $330,000 last year on faulty claims.

At one point the conference spent much of its time on a discussion of salaries paid State employes who work in the department.

Edward Johns, executive secretary of the Baltimore Federation of Labor (AFL) said he understood the Maryland pay scales are much lower than those for the employes of similar agencies in other states.

John Francis Foy, regional director for the Federal Bureau of Employment Security, said the Maryland scale is set by the State's Standard Salary Board.

Life Of Automobile Doubled Since 1925

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—Today's automobiles last twice as long as their 1925 counterparts, General Motors Corp.'s research chief told the Society of Automotive Engineers today. And the credit for lengthening the jallopy's life, he said, belongs to research.

John M. Campbell, technical director of the General Motors research staff, told the meeting that economists are beginning to recognize research as "a creative force."

"In 1925 when research was just beginning to make itself felt, the average life of a car was about seven years and after 25,000 miles the car was ready for the scrap heap," he asserted.

"Today we have more than doubled the car life and the modern car is good for a total of 125,000 miles of service to its various owners."

"Not So Wild Cat" Reported On Loose

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—A "not so wild cat" was reported on the loose in the Annapolis area today.

Actually it is a wildcat, but it's not a wild cat, according to Walter Perry of South Haven, who reported it to Anne Arundel County Police.

Perry explained he recently bought the wildcat as a pet for his wife. It has been tamed and is not vicious he said. It's about the size of an ordinary housecat.

Man Rescued From Flag Pole

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Vincent Avara, 26-year-old maintenance man at a public school, was rescued from a flag pole 80 feet above the ground today after hanging on desperately for 15 minutes.

A passerby and firemen saved him.

He was released after treatment for shock at Maryland General Hospital.

The flag pole sticks out from the side of the school building and Avara was trying to replace the rope used to run the flag up the pole.

He was wearing a safety line but apparently it broke and he almost fell before he could grab the pole.

A passerby, still unidentified, dashed into the principal's office to report the accident and then scurried on up to the roof of the building. He managed to swing the flag pole rope around Avara several times as Avara hung on desperately.

Avara apparently lost consciousness before firemen arrived, rigged ladders, and carried him down.

Lived It Up Too Fast

ESSEN, Germany, Oct. 6 (AP)—Jakob Gepraegs, 68, lived on his $14-a-month pension until he won $175,500 in a football lottery last year. Since then he lived it up so fast that the city has ruled "in the public interest and for his own good" that a trusteeship would allot him so much per month. How much was not disclosed.

Train Has To Stop

GRENOBLE, France, Oct. 6 (AP)—Villagers of Virieux-sur-Bourbre (pop. 800) are determined to make the Lyon-Grenoble express stop for them. Climaxing an eight-year campaign to win a place on train schedules, the villagers stage a periodic strike by massing on the tracks and forcing the engineer to stop.

Eating Experiment

$8.56 Weekly Food Budget Found Adequate By Couple

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 6 (AP)—The smell of barbecued steaks is tempting but an airman says the menus on an $8.56 weekly food budget have been plenty tasty.

Burdick Myre and his wife, Mary, started Monday on a budget menu they hope will cost less than $8.56 per week—the sum a Utah experimental station said would cover minimum food requirements.

"If it's all as good as the menus that Mary has had so far I see no reason why we shouldn't live on it all the time," said Myre, who is stationed at Goodfellow Air Force Base here.

Today the Myres had French toast, grapefruit juice and coffee for breakfast. For lunch they had vegetable soup, lime gelatine salad with carrots, and ice cream. Tonight they had meat pie, pear and grated cheese salad and coffee. Bread and butter go with all meals.

Last night the couple got a good whiff of steaks barbecuing in a nearby apartment.

"It was tempting but my wife and I went right ahead with our regular menu," said Myre. The last meal on the economy week will be supper Sunday night.

The couple undertook the idea at the suggestion of a local newspaper reporter who read a story about the finding by the experimental station.

U. S. Pediatricians Reverse Stand, Back Polio Program

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—The American Academy of Pediatrics, the nation's major organization of children's doctors, has thrown its approval behind resumption of the polio vaccination program. This reversed a stand the academy took last June.

The academy's Executive Board—governing group of the 4,300-member organization—approved a report from the AAP's committee on the control of infectious diseases which said:

"In view of the information made available to the committee by the United States Public Health Service, and by others, which indicates a trend in favor of protection against paralytic poliomyelitis in recipients of poliomyelitis vaccine; and in view of recent improvements in production, and in the control and testing of such vaccine, the committee approves the resumption of vaccination against poliomyelitis in the priority age groups established by responsible authorities at state and territorial levels."

Dr. Aims McGuinness of Washington, D. C., chairman of the committee, told a reporter that last June 15, at a special meeting in Quebec his committee had recommended "the discontinuance of vaccination."

"Up to now," he added, "this action has not been rescinded."

McGuinness, in reading the committee's latest report to the academy's 24th annual meeting, said that while the committee was unanimous in approving resumption of vaccination, "all members of the committee still have reservations about the polio vaccine."

But he added:

"No longer can we say you must not vaccinate. Vaccination should now go forward in the specific priority age groups."

Concerning his reference to "reservations" about the vaccine, McGuinness told a reporter:

"This present vaccine is not terribly effective. Also there are still potential hazards such as a vaccine with (active) virus getting accidentally out into the field.

"We on the committee don't feel that the testing methods have yet been developed to the point where you can guarantee absolute safety.

"But it now appears that the advantages in protecting a fairly large number of children offsets the potential hazard of an accident to a few."

McGuinness, in stating that the present vaccine "is not terribly effective," related his statement to the recent report by the United States Public Health Service that polio among vaccinated children is now running 25 to 50 percent below the incidence expected without vaccination in the same age groups.

His implication was that he didn't believe that constituted a "terribly" high rate of effectiveness.

However, Surgeon General Leonard Scheele of the Public Health Service, in recently reporting present preliminary indications, declared:

"It is difficult not to be very optimistic about the value of the vaccine as used this year."

Scheele noted that the rates of protection so far indicated were accomplished despite the fact that many children had received only one "shot" of vaccine instead of the recommended three. He said it was reasonable to expect "even greater protection" under the three shots.

The one-third known portions of the continent of Antarctica have an average elevation of about 5,000 feet. The continent is 5,100,000 square miles in area. About 90 per cent of the area is ice covered.

Fall flowers were used in the decorations and the gifts were arranged beneath a sprinkling can and shower of streamers. Mrs. George Dent assisted her daughter in serving. Ten guests attended.

The Progressive Young Women's Club, Cresap, Bowling Green and Potomac Park Homemakers Clubs will hold an Achievement program jointly today at Rawlings Methodist Church, beginning at 10:30 a. m.

Belles of the Valley will meet tonight at Cas Taylor's.

Local AAUW To Celebrate Birthday, Founders Day

A national figure in American Association of University Women and local founders will share honors when Cumberland Branch celebrates its 11th birthday at a dinner in the Cumberland Country Club, where Mrs. Ruth W. Tryon, Washington, will be guest speaker. The Founders Day dinner will be October 12 at 7.

Mrs. Tryon until this month was director of publications and publicity for the American Association of University Women. On October 1 she relinquished these duties to write a history of the AAUW Fellowship program. Mrs. Tryon also held the position of Fellowship funds associate on the national headquarters staff in Washington until 1952, when she gave up that post to apply all of her time to the association's editorial and publicity work. She is a member of the Publications committee of the International Federation of University Women.

As AAUW editor, Mrs. Tryon has been responsible for the quarterly Journal, and for AAUW handbooks, leaflets, and other publications. She has written a brief history of the association from its founding in 1881 to 1949.

As Fellowship Funds associate from 1935 to 1951, Mrs. Tryon directed the association's program for raising funds for fellowships awarded each year to gifted women scholars for the pursuit of advanced research. In this period the association's million dollar fellowship fund reached its goal, and the list of AAUW graduate fellowships increased from 11 to more than 30. Mrs. Tryon has also directed the association's international grant program, which provides funds to enable women from other countries to come to the United States to study. Since World War II, more than 400 awards have been made to women students from 23 countries for study in American colleges under AAUW international grants.

Mrs. Tryon came to the AAUW in 1928, after serving as assistant to the editor of the Journal of Home Economics. Her experience in Washington goes back to the First World War, when she worked as a staff member of the Women's committee of the Council of National Defense. Before she interrupted her professional career to rear a family she had been a high school teacher in Minnesota and in Washington.

She was born in Stillwater, Minnesota, and received her A. B. and M. A. degrees from the University of Minnesota. At the university she was awarded a fellowship for graduate work, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa. While in Cumberland she will be a guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Cupler II.

Places at the speakers' table will be laid for past presidents as well as current officers.

The local branch is planning a more concentrated study of its Fellowship objectives during the coming year. An open board meeting, to be held in January, will be largely devoted to the subject. Mrs. Lawrence Kahn is local Fellowship chairman.

Decorations are being arranged by the Garden Study Group with Mrs. Rudolph Steinberger chairman. Mrs. John Hafer is Dinner chairman and is accepting reservations from members and guests.

Bridal Party Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Murphy will entertain with a rehearsal party for their son, Warren V. Murphy, and his fiancee, Miss Janis Marie Lee. It will be at their home, RD 5.

The marriage of Miss Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Lee, Grantsville, to Mr. Murphy will be performed at 4 Saturday in Cresaptown Methodist Church, by Rev. Raymond Crowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee will be hosts for a wedding reception honoring their daughter and her bridal party in the church social hall following the ceremony.

Bride-To-Be Is Honored

Prior to leaving Washington, where she is employed, Miss Thelma Growden, fiancee of Stephen J. Carnachia, was entertained by Miss Irene Fath at a prenuptial party. Since coming home Miss Mary Jo Growden entertained for her at her home, Virginia Avenue.

The marriage of Miss Growden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Growden, 103 Virginia Avenue, to Mr. Carnachia, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marco Carnachia, 415 Springdale Street, is to be performed at 3 p.m. October 23 in St. John's Lutheran Church, by Rev. Frederick Eckert.

Pink flowers were used in the decorations and the shower gifts were concealed beneath a white umbrella. Eighteen guests attended.

Some sea anemones live more than 70 years, but others live only one year.

AAUW Regional Meeting To Be Held In Huntington

Announcements of board meetings and a regional meeting were made at the brief business session of the Frostburg-Georges Creek Branch, American Association of University Women, held in the lecture hall of Frostburg Methodist Church.

An executive board meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Kruson, Frostburg, October 17 at 7 p.m. The state board meeting is to be held October 22 in the AAUW building in Washington. A coffee hour will be held at 9 a.m., with the business session at 10. Dr. Laura B. Harney, member of the state Legislative committee; Mrs. John G. Cook, state chairman of Social Studies; and Miss Gertrude Williams, branch president, will go. Any member of the branch is welcome to attend.

The next regional meeting is to be held at Marshall College, Huntington, W. V., July 15 to 18. The enrollment of a new member, Mrs. Harry Baker, Frostburg, a graduate of Western Maryland College, was announced and the eight members who attended the workshop in Frederick, gave their reports.

Dr. Hazel G. Ramsay, head of the International Relations Study Group, was introduced and at their request spoke on "A Tramp Around Europe Picks Up Information In Regard to International Relations." Giving a first-hand account of impressions of the average people of middle Europe and America, the speaker said she was distressed to find they associate big business with an inevitable war. They feel that America talks of heckling Russia, but Europe is in the middle and is passive on the subject. Top officials are willing to talk about the Geneva conference, but the masses did not seem to know much about it, but felt that although no problems were settled it was good that the statesmen at least were willing to get together.

Discussing the anti-conqueror attitude, Dr. Ramsay said the people still have a bit of the feeling, but are trying to direct it against war instead of the United States. She told of meeting a friend in Austria who is trying to think of America as a friend instead of a conqueror, although when the liberating soldiers marched in throwing chocolate to the people, she ground it under her heel.

Europeans still have a stereotype opinion of Americans, the speaker said, feeling they are too well paid, have too much money, are too loud, have too little "culture," and speak of American women as "so healthy, strong and go so much."

In order not to seem condescending Dr. Ramsay traveled wearing a warm and comfortable but shabby tweed coat, carried a German string bag, Amsterdam umbrella, a stole, and had the inevitable cheese sandwich. The fact that she enjoyed her stay in a home without running water lifted the morale of the owners, she said. She also mentioned the fact that everybody shakes hands, even the bus ticket seller.

Dr. Ramsay did not go into Berlin, but did visit Vienna, where she saw a few Russian soldiers. There she saw two huge Soviet information centers, which are plastered with propaganda posters explaining what Russia is doing to help Austria. She was amazed with the number of people who read them and also went inside. Although there is still a great deal of devastation in Vienna, the theaters and churches are being restored. Each stone of the churches is being scrubbed before being put in place, so as to be perfect when finished.

One evening Dr. Ramsay spent with an Austrian woman discussing "Does it really matter who rules you?"

Newcomers Change Date Of Meetings

A report of the Meeting Place committee was given by Mrs. Jack Higgens to members of the Newcomers Club. It was decided to meet at the Girl Scout house the second Thursday and fourth Wednesday of each month. Thursdays will be business and program meetings and Wednesdays bridge and canasta nights. Mrs. Loy Levens presided.

Mrs. James Price made permanent name tags to be distributed at the beginning of the meetings and collected at the close. Anyone interested in joining the Book Club is to call Mrs. Henry Tubbs, PA 4-3962.

Bridge and canasta concluded the evening with 53 attending. Prizes at canasta were won by Mrs. Charles Hast, Mrs. James Feeney; bridge, Mrs. Frank Leger, Mrs. Webb Hospelhorn, Mrs. Angela Duff and Mrs. Charles Hast, the special award. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Mayme Anderson, Mrs. Theos Angelus, Mrs. Jack Olwine and Mrs. Ernest Abbott.

Sodality To Purchase New Banner

Plans to have a special banner made for the Marian Year Shrine procession were formulated at the meeting of the St. Mary's Sodality. Mrs. John Clancey presided, and the group discussed the dedication ceremony to be held at 2:30 Sunday.

Consultors were asked to contact members to have as many as possible attend. Mrs. George Crass asked for volunteers to help serve dinner to the guests Sunday.

It was announced that new sodalists will be accepted November 6.

Miss Mary Margaret Daugherty announced a number of new books have been added to the lending library. It was decided that each member is to give a report of each book she reads.

Mrs. Clancey thanked the helpers for the success of the recent card party.

Soroptimist Club To Hold Benefit, Anniversary Dance

The Soroptimist Club will hold a dance November 18. It will be a combination benefit and anniversary, commemorating the fifth anniversary of the Soroptimist Club in Cumberland.

To be held at the Ali Ghan Country Club, it will be on the Oriental theme, which will be carried out in the decorations.

The Mid-Knighters will play for the dance, which is to be from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Faye Stillwagon is chairman of arrangements. Tickets are available from any member of the club.

Scientists Say Heart Attacks Give No Warning; Man Who Had One Disagrees

Editor's Note: Does a heart attack telegraph a warning ahead? The scientific answer is no. The writer, just recovered from a coronary thrombosis, thinks he had some warning if he'd been able to recognize it. A doctor, also hit by a heart attack, thinks the same thing. This article describes the opposing views.

By RELMAN MORIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—"Did you have any warning?"

Over and over, people ask this question of anyone who has had a heart attack.

The scientific answer is "no."

But I am not sure this is the complete answer, on the basis of my own experience, and the stories of other people.

Science does not yet have the tools or techniques that would permit a doctor to say, "A blood clot is beginning to form in one of the coronary arteries. In a few weeks, it will completely plug up that artery, causing a heart attack."

This is the most common form of attack. It is the kind that struck President Eisenhower.

His doctors say he was examined with an electrocardiograph, last August. There were no danger signals flying at that time, they said.

So, from a strictly mechanical point of view, it appears that these accidents overtake the heart with no warning whatever.

A heart attack is an intensely personal experience. No two stories are exactly alike, but this, for what it's worth, is mine. It is not hindsight —

For several weeks before the attack, I had been conscious of a vague feeling of uneasiness. It was nothing concrete, and there was no obvious reason for it. No unusual problems were confronting me, and no serious worries.

Yet, from time to time, there was this feeling of anxiety. It seemed that something, somewhere, was awfully wrong. I remember thinking, while walking to the office one morning, that sooner or later it must come out.

Shortly before the attack, I also developed a pale, pasty color and began running into periods of sleeplessness.

Now, all of this may amount to exactly nothing. But in my book, it was a set of red lights, Yet I tried to shrug it off and did nothing about it.

In the winter of 1946, Dr. James Evans, a busy New York physician, began feeling vaguely ill. At first, he thought it was reaction to a vaccine he had taken against flu. He also felt tired. He went on working.

One morning, walking to his office, he felt a slight pain in his chest. "It wasn't half so severe as indigestion," he says. When he sat down, it went away, and he thought no more about it.

Two nights later, after a quiet evening in a movie, the attack hit. It was so severe, he says, that "I couldn't remember my nurse's telephone number, although I must have called it a million times."

Dr. Evans was 51 years old at the time, a golfer, figure-skater, and an aviator.

He recovered from the attack, and in due course resumed his normal work schedule. Within three months, he was flying his own plane again, and he plays golf regularly.

He thinks he had a warning, that morning. And he adds:

"A lot of people get a complex about a heart condition. It seems to me that nature is all on your side in these cases. The discomfort you have is a kind of guard. Your heart seems to be aware of danger, and alert before you are."

However, doctors have long known about imaginary symptoms of heart trouble, and their effects.

For example, there is the term "soldier's heart." Five heart specialists who collaborated on a book called "You and Your Heart" described some of the symptoms, noting pain, palpitation and shortness of breath. They wrote:

"Anxiety over their emotional and physical state can reduce these patients to almost complete invalidism.

"In England, there were thousands of such invalids among the veterans of World War I. They did not have any organic heart injury, but they were cardiac cripples just the same. Ten years after the war, an examination showed they were invalids still, but no greater incidence of heart disease had developed among them than among any other group of men of the same age.

"Even living for 10 years with the idea that they had 'bad hearts' had not been able to do any actual damage to this incredibly tough organ."

There are no hard and fast rules. What may seem to be a sympton often turns out to be pure imagination, or from some other cause. Vice versa, there may be such a thing as a warning.

Either way, doctors advise a regular checkup.

Poland Drafts Plan To Solve German Issue

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 6 (AP) — Poland is drafting a plan to solve the nettlesome problem of almost a quarter of a million Germans now living under the Polish flag.

Officials say the government is just about ready to offer the Germans this choice: adopt Polish citizenship with full rights or pack up and leave for German soil. Precise details have yet to be worked out, including a clear decision on what the Germans would be permitted to take with them.

The number of persons concerned was estimated roughly at between 200,000 and 250,000. All of them live in lands behind the Oder-Neisse line which were German until 1945 and then were ceded to the Poles.

Under the terms of the Big Three agreement at Potsdam 10 years ago, eight million Germans were expelled from the area and 5½ million Poles—most of them from eastern sections of Poland seized by the Russians—took their place.

The quarter of a million Germans who remained behind elected to take a chance on their political economic future rather than quit their native heath with nothing more than the clothes they were wearing. By now they are largely bilingual and so much a part of the general economy that they are not noticeable.

Informed government quarters said however that the status of these people must be cleared up once and for all. They admit the decision is a delicate one because Poland is so short of manpower she cannot afford to give such a big segment of the working population the chance to leave. A Polish spokesman said:

"We cannot continue to have what amounts to stateless people in such numbers. If they want to be Poles with the full responsibility that goes with that, well and good. If they want to leave, rather than be Poles, we must face that issue in each individual case."

Statehouse Visited By 3,118 In September

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Oct. 6 (AP) — The Maryland Statehouse registered 3,118 visitors from 44 states and 21 foreign countries during September, the Department of Information reported today.

The figure compared to 2,706 visitors for the same month last year, and kept the historic, wooden-domed structure running well ahead of its 1954 tourist traffic.

Through September this year, 9,677 persons had signed the register compared to 36,741 for the same period last year.

Earle Poorbaugh, director of the Department of Information, said tourist interest in Maryland is generally higher than the previous year. He said his department received 4,800 requests for tourist information during the month compared to 3,215 for September, 1954.

by Bob Considine

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is National Newspaper Week, and here a famed columnist and reporter illustrates the theme of this year's observance: "Your Newspaper—Fights For Your Right To Know.")

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (INS)—Herbert Hoover, a man whose administration often was lambasted by the American press, once wrote: "Absolute freedom of the press to discuss public questions is a foundation stone of American liberty."

Walter Lippman said it this way: "There can be no liberty for a community which lacks the information by which to detect lies." A generation ago, Nobel Peace Prize Winner Sir Norman Angell wrote: "If a people are to be in a position to judge the conduct of their government, to decide whether it is doing well or ill, to decide the merits of public policy at all; if, indeed, they are to preserve the capacity for sound judgment, they must have facts before them not only as a government would have them put, but also as those who disagree with the government may desire to put them."

These thoughts are recalled here because this is National Newspaper Week, the theme of which is "Your Newspaper Fights for Your Right To Know." We've been tooting our horn a bit these past few days. Stand by for a few final toots:

The Ku Klux Klan is no longer a power through large regions of the U. S. because newspapers ferreted out its excesses and crimes and an aroused public required of its somewhat fearful law officers that the sheeted thugs and scofflaws be aired. The same is true in details about the National Crime Syndicate. Newspapers were inquiring into its influence long before Sen. Kefauver got so effectively on its trail.

Newspapers have brought about more exposes of political graft and malpractice than any law-enforcing institution. This often takes courage. In his own balliwick, Huey Long once attempted to tax unfriendly papers out of existence or bring them to boot. The papers fought the case to the Supreme Court. Justice Sutherlan said "the tax is bad because, in the light of its history and of its present setting, it is seen to be a deliberate and calculated device in the guise of a tax to limit the circulation of information to which the public is entitled in virtue of the constitutional guaranties. A free press stands as one of the great interpreters between the government and the people. To allow it to be fettered is to fetter ourselves." We won.

"Who let them in?" Stalin asked Truman at Potsdam, as he nodded toward the reporters. It is a question that has been raised by generations of politicians and bosses. The U. S. Senate in its early days twice defeated motions to permit its proceedings to be opened to the press. No prisedent until Theodore Roosevelt provided for press accomodations at the executive office and the open White House press conference did not become common practice until F.D.R.

Lord Kitchener ordered all newsmen who appeared "in or near the lines" arrested during World War I. Not even "Editor and Publisher," the bible of our business, knows how many editors and reporters have been threatened, jailed, tarred and feathered, horsewhipped, slugged and killed for telling the truth about a bad situation. The early newsmen here and in England spent as much time in chains as in their printing shops. But some were treated worse, like Elijah Parish Lovejoy (1802-1837), killed by a mob while defending his press on which he had called for emancipation of the slaves.

Newsmen have swallowed fears and turned their backs on aggregate millions of dollars in bribes in order to produce what W. R. Hearst many years ago described in these words: "The press has a vital role to play in maintaining the vigor of democracy and continuing the existence of one true republic. It must print the truth fully and fearlessly. It must not print biased propaganda as news. It must give the public accurate information. It must open its columns to free and illuminating discussion. It must do its full and impartial duty in enabling the citizenry to conduct their democratic government wisely and successfully."

Joseph Pulitzer said it this way: "We are a democracy and there is only one way to get a democracy on its feet in the matter of its individual, its social, its municipal, its state, its national conduct, and that is by keeping the public informed about what is going on. There is not a crime, there is not a dodge, there is not a truck, there is not a swindle, there is not a vice which does not lfve by secrecy. Get these things out in the open, describe them, attack them, ridicule them in the press, and sooner or later public opinion will sweep them away."

Four score and more reporters' names line the walls of New York's Memorial Press Center, killed covering war and disorder. Less dramatic, hundreds of U. S. newspapers are daily engaged in activities that affect only their communities: Slum clearance demands, public health programs, fights against juvenile delinquency, narcotic peddlers, and rascality in high and low places. There's generally an effort made to balk this work. The purpose of these recent pieces was just to say that come hell or high water the U. S. press will remain in there pitching for your "right to know."

Little-Known American Church Is Blend Of Inner Catholicism, Outer Protestantism

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP)—One of the little and little-known churches in America today is an unusual blend of inner Catholicism and outer Protestantism.

It is the liberal Catholic Church, which stands alone in its rare combination of the old and the new.

Internally, it retains the pre-Reformation creeds and customs, but it gives full rein to the Protestant idea of individual members working out their own personal concepts of faith.

"We are somewhat 'in between' the Roman Catholic and Protestant churches," said Bishop Edward Murray Matthews of Los Angeles, the church's reigning prelate. "We are neither and both."

Most of the church's basic beliefs and forms of worship are like those of the Roman Catholic Church, but it permits wide leeway in private definitions, more so than many Protestant denominations.

"Our doctrines are traditional," Bishop Matthews said. "But we don't try to cross the T's and dot the I's and say one particular shading of meaning is infallibly correct.

"Members have the utmost freedom in individual interpretation."

This week, the church expanded its ranking priesthood with the consecration of two new bishops—the latest in an historic succession which the church traces back to the Apostles.

Akin to the Roman Catholic, Episcopal and Orthodox churches, Bishop Matthews said, "we very jealously guard the succession of our orders, instituted by Christ and uninterrupted down to our own day."

The two new suffragan bishops are the Most Rev. William Henry Daw, of Blessed Trinity Church, Hamilton, Ont., and the Most Rev. Pickford Roberts, of New York's Church of St. Thomas the Apostle.

Although the denomination has only about 4,000 members in this country—scattered in parishes in a dozen cities—its roots go deep into early Christendom.

Like the Roman Catholic Church, from which it sprang, it follows the same pattern in its liturgy, except that the Mass always is sung in the vernacular — English in this country—instead of Latin.

"We are not unique in doing this," Bishop Matthews said. "Other Catholics are experimenting with the English Mass, knowing that there ought to be more active participation by the laity. There is no real distinction, except that we are doing it consistently.

"We are quite meticulous about our ritual. But we look on it constructively to find the best way to impart its meaning and value, rather than making a fetish or superstition of it."

The church's clergy wear the same vestments as their Roman Catholic brethren. But its priests need take no vows of chastity, and may marry. So may clergy in the Roman Catholic Eastern Rite — but not the Western.

Like its ecclesiastical parent, the Liberal Church recognizes seven holy sacraments Ordination, Matrimony, Baptism, Confirmation, the Eucharist, Absolution (of sins) and Holy Unction (anointing with oil).

"But we don't apply them in a dogmatic sense," Bishop Matthews said. "We don't claim they are absolutely essential to salvation. The whole approach to them is not that of necessity — but of opportunity."

It is at this point that the church breaks with other Orthodox and Catholic churches, and to a large extent, even with practices of Protestant churches in requiring members to subscribe to fixed articles of faith.

Tall, 57-year-old Bishop Matthews presides over the church from its headquarters at the Cathedral Church of St. Albans in Hollywood. His official title is regionary bishop of the provinces of the U.S. and Canada.

The church has 33 priests, and parishes or small centers in Richmond, Va.; Jacksonville, Fla.; Atlanta, Ga.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Syracuse, N.Y.; San Francisco; Seattle; Chicago; and Boston, among others.

Crash Reunites Father And Son

BLOUNTSTOWN, Fla., Oct. 6 (AP) —A weekend automobile accident reunited a Panama City, Fla. father and a son he hadn't seen in 12 years.

A driver crashed his car into the rear of Carey Hughes' boat trailer Saturday night, causing about $1,200 damage.

After police jailed the 25-year-old driver on reckless driving charges, Hughes learned that the younger man's name was also Carey Hughes.

He investigated and discovered the man was his son, Eldridge Carey Hughes of Ozark, Ala., whom he had not seen since separating from his wife 12 years ago.

Northern Virginia's Population Growth Seen Slowing Down

ARLINGTON, Va., Oct. 6 (AP) — Northern Virginia is expected to have only half as great a population growth in the next five years as it did during the past five, according to a report released today.

A slowdown in the rate of growth is noted in the report, prepared for the Northern Virginia Planning and Economic Development Commission by Dr. Lorin A. Thompson, director of the Bureau of Population and Economic Research of the University of Virginia.

The population of Arlington and Fairfax counties and the cities of Alexandria and Falls Church will reach 460,000 by 1960, the report states.

Population for the region is now estimated at 407,000, a 34.2 per cent rise from the 303,328 reported in the 1950 census. The increase expected during the next five years is estimated at 13.2 per cent.

Reasons given for the slowdown include stabilization of employment in the Washington metropolitan area, reduced expansion of the federal government, and maintenance of the birth rate at approximately the current level.

Even the walls and doors are carpeted in the communications room at New York's International airport—to muffle the clickety-clack of the teletypes and other equipment.

The competitors in each state who score highest on the preliminary test will be invited to register for and take the scholastic aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board on January 14, 1956.

The 200 national winners in this test will each receive a four-year scholarship. In cases where it is deemed necessary this will cover full tuition and living expenses.

Eight hundred runners-up in the competition will be awarded certificates of merit and their names will be announced to all colleges and other scholarship agencies.

Hyndman Borough Council Dismisses Two Members

Failed To Attend Regular Sessions

HYNDMAN — Two Democratic borough councilmen in Hyndman were dropped for non-attendance at meetings and a Republican and a Democrat were elected in their place at the regular meeting of the council this week.

The action to drop members for non-attendance is unusual locally. A member of the Hyndman council explained after the meeting that the move was in accordance with Section 905 of the Borough Code. Members missing two consecutive meetings may be dropped by vote of council if the absences are not excused.

The councilmen "fired" were Don Harclerode and Vance Diehl. Harclerode still had about two years to serve on his term and Diehl's term was to expire in January.

Elected in place of the two were Edward Evans, a Republican, and Frank Taylor, a Democrat.

Harclerode and Diehl had been notified following the September meeting that action to drop them from the rolls was contemplated.

In other business at its meeting, the Hyndman council approved the request of Burgess Miller for extra police to be put on duty during the coming Halloween season. Miller and Chief of Police Paul Wise are setting up two days for Hyndman's official Halloween observance October 29 and 31.

Three parcels of land were sold to Dayton Harold Jr., J. R. Gracey and Burt Railey, one to each man. Harold will use his parcel in connection with a planned expansion of his local lumber mill.

Present at the meeting were President Casper Hyre, Miller, Councilmen Thomas Smith, James Thomas, John May and Wade Kipp, Mrs. Grace Albright, borough treasurer, and Mrs. Doris Zimmerman, borough secretary.

Lonaconing Lions Begin Plays For Charter Night

LONACONING — Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, president of Lonaconing Lions Club, named a committee, Edward Mooney, Robert Robertson and Jack Stakem, to secure information on the placing of signs in the town for the Lions Club meetings.

Meetings are held the first and third Mondays at 6:15 p. m. at the Pythian Building, Union Street. The committee will report on the installation of the club signs, and also securing a banner to place behind the head table at the Lions meetings.

Book covers will be purchased by the Liops Club to distribute to the four schools of the area, Barton Elementary School, Midland Elementary School, Central Elementary School and Valley High School. Joseph K. Haugen is in charge of ordering the 1500 covers.

Charter Night plans are progressing with a Ladies Night program to be held in November. John W. Morgan, of Frederick, District Lions governor, will be invited to attend and address the Lonaconing Club and their guests.

Boyd Bolyard, chairman, Dick Keyes, Sam Hutcheson, Ray Bampton and Arthur Phillips are on the committee for the ladies night event.

Jake Moses was a new member attending the meeting.

The Charter Night will be held on Monday, November 7, at 6:30 p. m. with a dinner for the Lions and their ladies. A dance will be held following at the VFW home, Lonaconing with music by a local dance band.

A board of directors meeting was held after the meeting on Monday.

Regional Warden Joseph A. Minke addressed the club at their first fall meeting, on recreational facilities for youth groups.

A fish pond for boys and girls would provide pleasure for the area young folks. He noted that a low rate of juvenile delinquency is shown by those who are interested in hunting and fishing hobbies.

The project would need a sponsorship of some nature, he stressed. It would be a requirement of the Western Maryland Wild Life Federation to approve a sight upon which a pond would be located. He then showed a movie, "Black Duck Story."

Westernport Council Okays New Ordinance

Designed To Curb Street Excavation

WESTERNPORT — The first reading of an ordinance regulating the "excavation of and under the public streets and alleys of the town for any purpose, including the laying or relaying, changing and repairing of pipes and sewers," was unanimously approved by Mayor Okey E. Michael and Commissioners of Westernport at a regular meeting last evening.

The ordinance states that all persons shall apply for a permit in writing before excavating. Anyone doing such work without a permit will be subject to a fine of from $10 to $50 or serve 10 days in jail.

If parties do unsatisfactory work within a specified time, the Mayor and Commissioners have the power to complete the project and send expenses to the applicant.

William Wilkinson Jr., town police officer, resigned. His probationary period of 90 days was up and the Mayor and Commissioners granted him permission to return to the Street Department.

Mayor Michael said he conferred with George Hale, district maintenance engineer, and Roger Putman, assistant district engineer of the Maryland State Roads Commission, concerning highway signs, mostly route signs, which cannot be placed on curb power poles.

Quotations were read from the Thomas Drain Service, Akron, and Pittsburgh Pipe Cleaner Company for the cleaning of a trunk line sewer from the vicinity of Church Street extending to the Oak View section. Approximate costs for the work was over $3,000. No action was taken on the bids submitted.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

If there is one single and sure way to keep your figure, it's with the exercise I'll tell you about today.

This exercise, is condensed into the shortest routine possible, but what a wonder worker it is to keep the joints limber as well as the muscles youthfully firm. And make no mistake about it, muscles must stay firm and joints limber or there's no stopping the slackening of flesh, the flabby bulges and the waning grace of movement that sadly ages the most beautiful figure.

The exercise is based entirely on the figure 8. Adopt it and there will be no doubt ever after that eight is your lucky number.

1. Stretch out on the floor. Raise the right leg high into the air with the knee straight and the big toe pointing. As if your leg were a pencil and reaching far out to the right, describe as large and trim a figure 8 as you can. Repeat several times and then draw the eight as many times backwards.

Now relax the knee, hold the ankle taut and describe medium-sized eights in both directions. Make sure the action comes from the knee as much as possible rather than from the thigh joint.

To conclude for the right leg, straighten it out and make small eights with ankle motion only. Follow with the same three steps for the left leg.

2. Rise to a sitting position and extend your right arm at shoulder level. Describe eight figures, backward and forward, large ones from the shoulder, medium from the waist. Repeat with the left arm.

3. Rise to a standing position. Stretch tall. Use your waist as a pivot and draw eights in both directions with the torso.

Union Leader Outlines Background Of Poultry Plant Wage Negotiations

Talks Are Resumed In Chicago Between Labor, Management

MOOREFIELD — The representative of the union on strike at four Rockingham Poultry Cooperative plants, one of which is Moorefield, yesterday presented the union's side of the dispute.

Michael Betzold, international representative of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of America, AFL, Local 393 in Moorefield outlined the background of the dispute.

He said on February 11 the union presented its demands to the cooperative for plants at Moorefield, Broadway, Va., Winchester, Va., and Richmond, Va.

These included a 36-cent an hour wage increase; liberalized sick leave, vacation, holiday and health and welfare plan; a guaranteed 36-hour week; and a union shop at Moorefield.

Betzold said the company offered only to renew the contract then in force. The contract expired on March 9.

Betzold said "Numerous bargaining sessions between May 12 to June 26 got nowhere."

Finally, he declared, the company presented a counterproposal to cut the contract extension time to six months and the union membership agreed to accept this, with the contract expiring on September 9.

Contract talks resumed August 4 and Betzold said the company made the following offer:

An increase of two cents an hour beginning October 1, 1955; an additional increase of nine cents an hour beginning March 1, 1956; an increase of five cents an hour beginning September 1, 1956, and the contract to run through until March 9, 1957.

"This offer meant a total increase of 17 cents from October 1955 to March 9, 1957. This offer was rejected by secret ballot vote by the membership in all of the six plants," the international representative said.

Betzold claimed the union offered to put the dispute up for arbitration, but said the company refused.

Federal mediators were called in on September 9 when a strike appeared inevitable, and two weeks ago the strike was called, Betzold related.

Yesterday the company and the union met in Chicago to further negotiations.

Betzold said Stewart Draft, Va., and Alma, Va., plants are operating, but the other four are not.

Management claims the four struck plants are working at about one-third capacity.

Betzold said the union has been a bargaining unit for the Rockingham employes for the past seven years and claimed this is the first time there has ever been any labor trouble.

The minimum wage for the Rockingham employes is 89 cents an hour.

Early last week there was some trouble on the picket line, Betzold admitted, but since a conference with town officials, there has been no violence.

The union official did claim that the violence was provoked when a man he identified as a foreman attempted to drive what he termed "strike breakers," into the plant to work.

Betzold said: Regardless of the charges made against us, we do not propose to use the same methods and tactics as the company. Whatever success we have had in the past is based on our reputation for integrity, in fair dealing with the employe and membership, and we do not propose to change one particle from this policy.

Moorefield Making Effort To Organize New CAP Unit

MOOREFIELD—C. W. Flick and Carlton Bennett, majors on the Wing Commander's Staff of the Civil Air Patrol Martinsburg Group, spoke to a meeting of interested citizens at the Town Hall, Friday night. Flick stated that Moorefield could easily qualify for the establishment of a CAP unit and that the assignment of an air craft on an on-loan basis was a definite possibility if enough members were secured.

"A brief history of the CAP was presented, with present day duties. The CAP participates in search and rescue missions on downed aircraft in West Virginia and other states. The organization is an auxiliary of the U. S. Air Force and is sponsored and assisted by that arm of national defense. A communications network is established with all CAP units where local personnel are qualified to operate such a net.

Membership is not restricted as to age or sex and a cadet program for youths 15 to 18 is actively encouraged. Each member is required to sign an oath that they are not a member of any fascist or communistic organizations. Applicants must also be fingerprinted and three photographs sent in with the information blank for membership.

William Goetz was named temporary officer in charge of the Moorefield Unit and has membership blanks and information for interested citizens. Another organization meeting will be held within the next two weeks to check up on the progress of the unit.

Flick and Bennett were accompanied by two other officers in the Martinsburg unit, including one of the women members. All were in uniform. A major in the Air Force was present at the meeting as an observer and promised help in every way possible from the Air Force.

Test Gives Clearer Idea Of Heart Attack Damage

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 6 (AP)—A laboratory test designed to show the presence of and the extent of damage to heart muscle in coronary attacks has been made successfully on 400 patients, a medical researcher reported today.

He said the test gives a clearer damage picture than heretofore possible.

The testing was carried on by doctors in various parts of the country but the largest number of trials was done by Dr. Alber A. Kattus of the University of California at Los Angeles. Tests on animals also were done by Dr. Clarence M. Agreess of the Veterans Administration Center, Los Angeles.

Reports on the results were made here by Dr. Clifford B. Cherry at a meeting of the Research Committee of the California Heart Assn. Dr. Cherry is the committee chairman.

The test involves a chemical substance which appears in the blood stream after damage to heart muscle by a blocking of a coronary artery. Some of the cells in the muscle, deprived of blood, die. This condition is called an infarct. It does not occur in all coronary cases.

The system begins almost immediately to clean up the dead cell area. The chemical, called transaminase, plays a role in the cleanup process. The amount of the chemical appearing in the blood is considered a measure of the amount of cleaning that has to be done, and thus a measure of the extent of damage.

The first work with the test was done several years ago at Yale and reported by Dr. P. P. Cohen and by researchers at the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York City.

Dr. John S. Ia Due of New York developed a spectrophotometric method of measuring blood transaminase and under his supervision the test was tried on a few patients. The tests on the 400 humans, some of them with diseases other than coronary trouble, followed.

In coronary cases, Dr. Cherry said, the amount of transaminase sometimes increases tenfold or more normal. Its measurement may be a good yardstick for determining the amount of damage involved and the extent of treatment needed, he added.

Doctors usually estimate the amount of heart muscle damage from symptoms, the patient's history and from electrocardiographic readings. These sometimes are not conclusive, Dr. Cherry said. The new test gives a clearer picture of heart muscle damage than ever before, he added.

Cops Accused Of Taking Bribe

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6 (AP) — The grand jury, which has shown signs of making a sweeping inquiry into gambling, police shakedowns, and night club immorality, came forth today with formal charges that three policemen had taken a tavern keeper's $118 bribe.

The three were accused of trying to get $300 and a case of whisky.

Presentments were returned against Sgt. Charles Baker, Patrolman Charles Suit and Patrolman Vernon J. Thompson of the city's southwestern police district. They already had been suspended.

The grand jury said they:

" . . . unlawfully demanded of Nathan Blaker $300 and a case of whisky as a bribe, fee, reward and testmonial . . . "

Received from Blaker a $118 bribe "for the purpose of influencing them in their performance of their official duties."

" . . . corruptly endeavored to obstruct the administration of justice."

Nathan Blaker, southwest Baltimore tavern keeper, was one of those who appeared before the grand jury.

Look Twice As Seedy And Escape Tax Hike

SARK, Channel Islands, Oct. 6 (AP)—Sark today doubled its tax but an islander may escape the increase—if he cares to—by looking twice as seedy as he did yesterday.

There is no law on this British island between England and France to force a man to disclose his bank balance—and the tax assessment is based on a man's appearance.

Until today, the tax assessment was one shilling on every 20 pounds (14 cents on every $56) an islander is presumed to have.

If an islander feels he's been overtaxed he has the right to appear before the island judge and swear he is not worth his assessment. The judge must accept the petitioner's word.

Constitutional Poser Is Raised By Illness

One problem posed by President Eisenhower's illness—the constitutional problem—will not become acute if the President continues to make good progress toward recovery. If within a reasonable period he is able to resume direction of the nation's affairs there will be no occasion for concern over who is to exercise the authority of his office. In the interval the Eisenhower "team" can keep the ship of state on course.

Yet the fact that the President must have complete rest for weeks if all goes well, has called attention to a provision of the Constitution that needs clarifying. Article 2, Section 1 says that "in case of (the President's) inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice president."

The "said office" is the presidency, but does the language mean that that office is to "devolve upon" the vice president, or only its powers and duties?

The precedents do not offer a great deal of guidance. President Garfield lay stricken over a period of weeks before he died from an assassin's bullet, but Vice President Arthur made no move to assume the office of president. Neither did Vice President Marshall during the illness of President Wilson—indeed, he would have nothing to do with the attempts made by some members of the Wilson cabinet to fill the vacuum created by their chief's long absence.

Yet the consequences of President Wilson's incapacity were so serious — historian David S. Muzzey said his administration "went to pieces"—that the American people cannot want a similar situation to arise now. And the precedents suggest that there is no real ambiguity in the language of the Constitution, since no one has suggested that the inability of a president to perform his duties would justify a vice president in assuming the office itself. The question is in what circumstances the powers and duties of the office should devolve upon the vice president.

It is worth noting that Vice President Nixon has presided at meetings of the National Security Council and the cabinet. Meanwhile he has consulted with others high in the administration and Attorney General Brownell has been asked for an opinion on how far the President's authority can be delegated during his recovery. So the picture may soon be considerably clearer.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Adopting Children

Everything gets tightly organized these days and most folks are afraid to buck the organizations. There are professionals for everything. Free adoption of children, without the sanction of the social workers, may lead to legal difficulties, with plaguing stories in the newspapers about "Black Market Babies." But the social workers delay and confuse and cause heartache because they have a monopoly and all monopolists tend to be imperious. This is a broad condemnation and yet from what I hear from questionnaire-ridden persons anxious to add a child to their household, I think that I would prefer to deal with anyone rather than with the stone-faced social workers who have been given an unconstitutional monopoly for the placement of children who need homes. Some day, their right to maintain this monopoly will go up to the Supreme Court on strictly constitutional grounds.

I know of a family of two cultured persons who are economically in good shape who know that they cannot have any children and who for more than two years have been seeking a child for adoption through the only agency open to them in New York where they live. Here such adoptions are controlled by religious affiliations which may or may not be a correct test. At any rate, unless one obeys the religious agency in charge, the adoption may not be legal and could lead to trouble.

No public agency adequately supervises the religious placement organizations with the result that there is a heart-breaking run-around. These organizations always say that there is a shortage of children for adoption and yet we constantly read stories about homeless children. It is explained that some of the homeless children cannot be placed because the parents who deserted them never signed the proper papers. There may be no known parents. In a word, the child suffers for the sins of the parents which may be a Biblical injunction in one place but is gainsaid by all the other injunctions about love, charity and pity which seem infinitely more important.

If there are good homes in which children can be placed, why keep them in deadly institutionalized orphanages where they are regimented until they are released into a free society? It would seem to be more civilized to let them grow up among parents and grandparents, even if such they be only by adoption, where they can have the usual social relationships and get the benefits of normal human associations. Why keep them in orphanages when they can be in homes?

I know of a fine family, the husband of which is a professional man of standing, who teaches in a university, whose wife is a lady of culture. They would give a good deal to be able to adopt a child and have tried hard to arrange for such a adoption. The years pass while the social workers investigate and question and delay and insist that they cannot find a suitable child, but there are children in the orphanages who would benefit if brought up in such an environment.

In whose interest are these social workers serving? If it is the child's, surely they ought to be able to find a child in or outside an orphanage who would benefit by adoption into such a family. If it is the community's, surely it is preferable to bring up free rather than regimented children. If it is the moral status of our society, it is sounder to send a child into a family where a child is fiercely desired and cannot be got by the usual biologic processes.

What reason can there be for all the red-tape and delay which the social workers devise? When the social worker is asked, one is generally told that he does not understand the intricacies of the problem. Any social problem can be made as intricate as we choose because there are always negative factors in everything. The trouble with professionals is that the negative factors loom too large in their experience. A little optimism might help them to understand that the negative factors ought not to dominate their thinking. Who, for instance, invented the myth that persons 40 and over ought not to adopt children when the life expectancy in this country runs about 69 years? Who is nowadays too old?

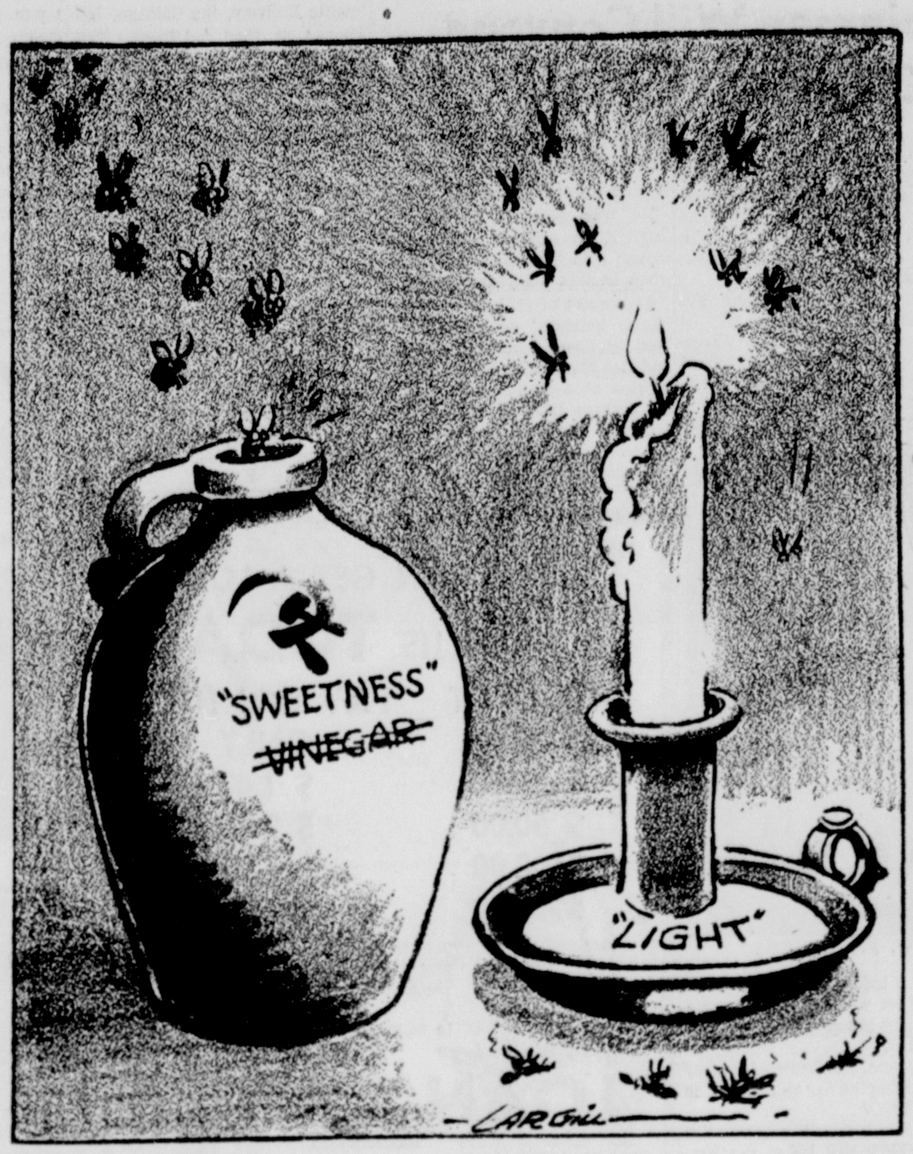
New Weapons, Old Objectives



Attempt Develops To Weaken Law Enforcement

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—A drive to break down the use of confidential informants in detecting and prosecuting criminals has been begun in America under the guise of protecting constitutional rights." It could lead to the breakdown of the entire grand jury system, too.

When the assistant attorney general in charge of enforcing the laws against subversives and the director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation feel it necessary to make public speeches calling attention to the crusade faced by the government in protecting the people's interests against Communist infiltration, it is significant. It means that officials here think the drive to bar confidential informants is making headway due to distortion and lack of knowledge by the American people as to the nature and objectives of the attack.

Assistant Attorney General William F. Tompkins and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover spoke before the International Association of Chiefs of Police, and both frankly declared themselves on the subject of the Communist conspiracy.

Endangers Grand Jury System

Neither one mentioned the grand jury system, but it is obvious that if confidential informants are to be barred, then the process of indictment by grand juries falls to the ground, too. At present counsel for a defendant indicted for a crime cannot obtain the transcript of the grand jury proceedings nor the names of the witnesses. Likewise, when an indictment is filed and subsequently there is an acquittal, the individual who is accused does carry the stigma of having been indicted. Today those who want security boards inside the executive branch of the government not to accuse anyone unless guilt is known in advance, because a stigma might remain, are really arguing that those who have been acquitted after court trials should not have been tried at all. This is a novel concept of American law and traditional jurisprudence.

"As an institution," said FBI Director Hoover, "the confidential informant is used not only by law enforcement but in practically every walk of life, particularly by the press and our financial institutions. In recent years, there has been a determined campaign designed to deprive law enforcement of the use of the time-tested and valued confidential informant. This campaign of vituperation is part and parcel of Communist strategy to convert the courtroom into a forum to discredit the judicial processes. For the most part, the technique of the smear has been devised by Communist lawyers, skilled in concealing foul and despicable acts behind the Fifth Amendment. They employ tactics which even the most unscrupulous underworld 'mouthpiece' would frown upon as improper.

"The Communist owes no allegiance to God, to his family or to his country. He owes it only to the party and will do anything the party commands him to do. He will lie, cheat, steal or do anything for the Communist cause.

Confidential Informants Necessary

"The inroads that Communist propaganda has made in influencing law-abiding Americans, who fail to realize that criminal conspiracies are conceived behind closed doors under the cover of darkness, are disheartening. It is through the efforts of confidential informants that we have been able to expose the Communist conspiracy in the past and through them we must stake much of the future security of the United States. That is why such a vicious and sustained attack has been made against former Communists who have first-hand knowledge of the secret, diabolical purposes of the Communist party.

"Those now furthering the campaign of vituperation against witnesses say that the Communist menace is a myth created by those who testified against it. Therefore, to destroy the myth, they feel it is necessary to destroy the witnesses. They refuse to recognize the Communist enslavement of one third of the world's people and one fourth of the world's surface. These witnesses have been cross-examined in our courts, observed by judges and juries and they have been brought under the penetrating eye of the American press.

"The Communists, bent on weakening our American way of life, have now turned to enlist other individuals and groups to convey propaganda designed to discredit truth.

"It is through the 'pseudo liberals' that the Communists do some of their most destructive work. These fictitious liberals are the individuals who through insidiously slanted and sly propagandistic writings and reports opposed urgently needed internal security measures; conduct a one-sided campaign to discredit government witnesses; present the menace of communism as a myth of hysteria; urge that we tolerate the subversive acts of Communists because Communists are only 'nonconformists'; contend that the Communist party is a 'political' movement and that it is improper to consider it a criminal conspiracy linked to a world conspiracy to overthrow our government by force and violence.

Not Mark Of True Liberal

Constructive criticism and constant evaluation of methods, procedures and accomplishments in an objective manner is the way to progress. But, the eagerness of some to attack everyone and everything related to the exposure of the Communist conspiracy in this country is hardly the mark of a true liberal. Indeed, the true liberal is opposed to everything communism represents, for the very nature of communism is the antithesis of liberalism."

After declaring that the use of the confidential informant isn't new or unusual in criminal law enforcement, Mr. Tompkins in his address said:

"And I dare venture to state that it is because of their very effectiveness as witnesses that they have become a target of abuse by the Communist party and certain of its apologists."

It begins to look as if a determined effort will have to be made to counteract the concerted attempt that has developed throughout America to weaken law enforcement by measures which, if adopted, would frustrate the means of detecting criminals.

Baering Down On The News

Our pearl-handled diplomacy in the Russian zone has reached the cooperative suspicion of two boys with tangled kite strings.

They've got to help each other to get out of the mess.

The parley in aerial reconnaissance has shattered the sound barrier in the complaint department.

The Russians have already demonstrated their pro rate skill in supervising the sky districts with goodwill and flak toward all.

Proper Diet May Help Reduce Premature Births

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The first few weeks of life is a hazardous period, particularly for the premature infant. These tots are so underdeveloped they have difficulty coping with their environment and consequently hover between life and death for some time after birth.

Only a fraction of the total number of births are premature, yet half of all deaths during the first 28 days of life take place among the early arrivals. This means that any attempt to lower the mortality of newborn babies must take prematurity into consideration.

To date research has centered about the use of incubators, oxygen, formulas, and special care to keep the wee ones alive. But the prevention of prematurity is a more logical approach.

Why do some women go into labor before nature intended? From 8 to 13 per cent have twins. Little can be done with this group because multiple pregnancies terminate on the average of three weeks before the expected date of confinement. But the mother can increase the chance of survival of these youngsters by eating properly and getting ample rest.

The expectant woman who develops toxemia, or begins to hemorrhage, runs the risk of going into labor early; 20 per cent of all premature deaths are caused by these conditions. Toxemia is not as common as it was in the past and the chance of developing the complication is lessened through adequate prenatal care, diet, and salt restriction.

In both conditions hospitalization may be needed to postpone the onset of labor. Many families worry about the cost of this type of care but it is cheaper for Mother to remain in the hospital for two months than to keep Junior in special nursery for an equal length of time.

Despite these causes, from 60 to 70 per cent of premature births are spontaneous. The mother is healthy and there is little for the physician to work with from a preventive point of view. In this respect there will always be premature children.

Can something be done to reduce mortality among those who are born on time? Yes, and it is here that our modern obstetricians deserve credit. But improvements in the socio-economic status of our country are helping also to save the lives of babies.

Over 10 years ago an experiment was conducted on 750 expectant mothers who were given a diet rich in proteins, vitamins, and minerals. Fluids were restricted to prevent oversaturation of the tissues. None of these women delivered prematurely. In a similar group that did not receive the diet 37 mothers gave birth to premies.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Sipping juleps after 18 tough holes under the summer sun, two members of a swank golf club glanced covertly at an overdressed blonde who sashayed up to the bar.

"It's just eight years to the day since she came to work for poor old Tom and set her trap for him," recalled one.

"Yes," sighed the other, "and she hasn't shut it since!"

Met over coffee in the club car of the Super-Chief, two supstantial-looking citizens exchanged confidences. It was revealed that one was a banker, the other an actor.

"Bet I haven't been in a theater in five years," mused the banker.

"That's nothing," the actor assured him. "I haven't been in a bank in ten."

"Why didn't you answer my letter?" demanded the lovesick youth from Purdue. "I didn't get it," pouted his adored one, "and furthermore, I didn't like some of the things you said in it."

Attack On Islands Near Formosa By Red China Expected This Fall

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—News of the Far East has been off the front pages since the President's illness, but the fact remains that the Joint Chiefs of Staff are definitely expecting serious trouble around Formosa this fall. It's also no secret that they intend to meet any serious trouble with atomic weapons.

This was cleared with Eisenhower before he became ill, so the military do not expect to clear any further question of using atomic weapons with Denver. This of course may cause serious repercussions with our Allies.

In preparation for trouble, the Joint Chiefs are quietly pulling manpower out of the Far East and concentrating U. S. military strategy on air and sea power. These air and sea units are prepared to hit back with nuclear weapons.

Currently, three Army and one Marine division are stationed in the Far East. First to be withdrawn will be the First Cavalry Division in Japan, though it hasn't been announced yet. The Joint Chiefs are also considering pulling the Army's 7th or 24th Division out of Korea.

This would leave South Korea with practically no American support, but the Joint Chiefs are counting on Syngman Rhee's army to stop any minor Red attack and on atomic weapons to turn back a major attack.

Similarly, American atomic-air power is poised around Formosa in case the United States should become embroiled in an outbreak between Communist and Nationalist China. The public doesn't realize it, but 10,000 American troops are stationed on Formosa. Of these, 1,500 are attached to the U. S. military mission. The remainder are Air Force personnel.

With such an American stake in Formosa, any Red attack on the Nationalist-held stronghold will certainly involve the United States. The likelihood of such an attack, in the Pentagon view, is far more imminent than the peace news out of Moscow would indicate. Pentagon strategists are convinced that the Chinese Communists are simply biding their time, that they will attack first Quemoy and Matsu, later Formosa. They expect the latter before the end of 1956.

These strategists point significantly to big Chinese Communist withdrawals from Korea, and they believe these troops are being moved to South China, right opposite Formosa. Despite sunnier relations in Europe, these military prognosticators see war clouds gathering in the Far East.

Washington Whirl

In secret political huddles, GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall has seriously mentioned the possibility of running another Eisenhower in case Ike pulls out of the race—the President's brother, Milt Eisenhower. . . . Hall pointed out that Ike, himself, has often remarked that Milt has the brains of the family. Probably no one else has exercised greater influence on the President's decisions. Milt even moved into the White House for a while so he could be handy with his advice. . . . The Chicago Tribune wing of the Republican party is quietly building up support for Illinois' urbane Sen. Everett Dirksen in case Ike doesn't run again. Dirksen will clash head-on with California's beefy Sen. Bill Knowland, who is also bidding for conservative backing in the 1956 convention. . . . Friends of Chief Justice Earl Warren say he will accept the GOP nomination if it becomes necessary to stop Vice President Nixon. Warren is generally considered the strongest GOP candidate with Ike out of the picture. The chief justice has no desire to leave the Supreme Court, his friends say, but he would do it rather than see Nixon in the White House.

Capital Chaff

General Services Administration lawyers warned the Air Force that it lacked statutory authority to sign the controversial SAGE (as the air-defense network in the Arctic is known) contracts with American Telephone and Telegraph before they were ever negotiated. Under these contracts, AT&T will provide the Air Force with an air-defense signal system at a plush, guaranteed annual profit. . . . It isn't often that a high Republican begs a Democratic chairman to hire a counsel from his own party. But that's exactly what Charles Taft, brother of the late "Mr. Republican," Sen. Bob Taft, urged Virginia's Sen. Harry Byrd to do. As chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, Byrd has been getting along with the former GOP counsel, Serge Benson. Taft complained that Benson was so high-tariff minded that he was sabotaging the Eisenhower trade program. So Republican Taft pleaded with Democrat Byrd to hire a Democratic counsel. Byrd tried to borrow the House Ways and Means Committee's trade expert, Leo Irwin, but the House committee wouldn't spare him. Meanwhile Byrd is still looking around, on Taft's advice, for a suitable Democrat.

Merry-Go-Round

John Kennedy, publisher of the Sioux Falls, S. D., Argus-Leader, a lifelong Democrat, took a trip to Denver following Ike's illness, concluded that the public was getting all the facts. Since the first day when some false statements were issued, Kennedy reports, everything has been on the up-and-up. . . . Popular Argentine Ambassador Paz will live in the U.S.A. following Peron's downfall. He'll go back briefly to turn in his resignation, then buy a house in Washington. . . . New President Lonardi of Argentina spent eight months in the U.S.A. on the Pan American military board. His son was educated here. Many of those around Lonardi are anti-American, but he isn't.

Looking Ahead

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

According to those who should know, the policy to date has been to underline the dark side of the President's tragic illness, in order to avoid arousing false hopes.

The area of damage to the heart was somewhat smaller than is usual, for example, but this has not yet been revealed. Again, the period of intense depression after a thrombosis characteristically lasts considerably longer than was the case with the President, who recovered his good spirits on the second day. But this has not been emphasized.

Bad luck must always be allowed for, of course, yet the fact that the President's heart attack was at least marginally less serious than is generally supposed is none the less an important fact. It explains the comparative confidence with which the leaders of the junta now running the administration are looking ahead to the future.

The Great Question

The great question, of course, is just when President Eisenhower will again be able to function as President. The accepted answer comes in stages. Until the end of the two-week period in which complications are always to be feared, he will really not function at all in the vital sense of examining and deciding great issues of policy. Until the end of October he will hardly function, seeing a minimum of visitors and signing only those papers which it is essential for him to sign.

By the end of October, however, it is expected that he will be able to move without risk to his farm in Gettysburg. There, according to official forecast, he will spend another convalescent month. At Gettysburg, in the words of a high source, "He ought to be able to work about as long every day as he was working during his Denver holiday, before his attack came." That means that with due precautions to avoid getting over-tired, he will be able to devote a couple of hours daily to public business.

Finally, the presently accepted forecast calls for the President's return to Washington about December 1. But for a good many months after his return to Washington, the the President will have to continue on a "limited schedule." This means that he will be held down to perhaps two hours work in the morning and two more in the afternoon if he is feeling well.

Sole Executive Authority

Such are the limits, as it were, of the grave problem created by the constitutional rule that the executive branch of the American government contains no executive body except the actual, physical body of the President of the United States.

On this point, there has been much confusion. The cabinet, or the National Security Council, or both, have been widely represented as able to carry on the government indefinitely in the absence of the President. But in fact, the National Security Council is only an advisory body. The cabinet is the same. Neither has a particle of executive authority, which belongs to the President alone.

No one is more conscious of this than the members of the junta that has been formed to act as a sort of committee of government in the President's absence. Vice President Nixon, the junta's effective chairman, and its two cabinet-member leaders, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Secretary of State Dulles, showed their awareness of the true situation when they pleaded with Gov. Sherman Adams to join the President in Denver without further delay.

Gov. Adams would have preferred to stay in Washington, working day by day with his junta colleagues. But Nixon, Humphrey and Dulles correctly insisted that none of their actions had authority except from the President. Therefore, they said, there must be someone at the President's bedside who would be able, as it were, to serve as a transmission line of presidential authority.

In short, Nixon and his colleagues have made the very best they could of a very bad business. Already, however, at least one grave issue has had to be compromised in order to spare the President.

Top-Level Problems

If he had been well, he would have had to decide the question of priorities, as between maintaining the national defense and balancing this year's budget. Secretary of Defense Wilson was about to fly to Denver to present the case for his department when the President was stricken. But now Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey has contented himself with less than half the defense cuts he was originally demanding.

But problems of this order cannot go on being solved forever by the simple system of splitting the difference between opposing viewpoints. Only the President can decide the far graver conflict between known defense needs and pressing fiscal interests in the next year's budget—and that decision will have to be taken in November, at Gettysburg.

There will be many other problems, too, in this top-level category. It will be hard for the administration junta to draw the line wisely between sparing the President and shoving under the rug questions that he ought to answer. For all these reasons, it is a mater for general thanksgiving that he should be able to start making the really big decisions before too many weeks have passed.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — That traveling gal, Yvonne De Carlo, is coming home to light right at her one-time studio — Universal-International.

This is the first time since 1951 that Yvonne, once under contract to U-I, has made a picture there. She likes the dramatic story of "Raw Edge," a real western about a lumber camp in 1850 and so she agreed to cut short her travels.

True, Mario Lanza has been behaving himself almost too good to be true, but now he's got the bosses worried at Warners. Mario insists on taking lessons in full fighting and this is a pretty dangerous pastime. Mario's completely fascinated with fighting the bull, and I mean the real animal.

His company, the "Serenade" crowd, has been working at the ranch of Pepe Ortiz, retired champion bullfighter, and Ortiz and Mario have become fast friends. Anthony Mann has written that he's done his best to persuade Mario to leave the bulls to someone else, but Ortiz says no harm in waving the cape and urging them on to battle. No harm, if you don't get gored.

Jackie Cooper told me that when he was a child his favorite actress at MGM was Joan Crawford and he was thrilled that she consented to act as hostess at the party to introduce his new TV series, "The People's Choice."

If Aly Khan will take Rita Hayworth back she'll accept him—of that I'm sure. She was terribly in love with him. But any reconciliation would have to be on his terms, which might not suit the current Mrs. Haymes.

I remember going to see Rita right after she came back to Columbia before she married Dick Haymes and she told me then that she was crazy about Aly and hoped they could work something out.

There doesn't seem to be a prayer of Shirley Jones and Gordon Macrae being able to attend the premiere of "Oklahoma!" in New York on Oct. 11. When Frank Sinatra bowed out of "Carousel" there was a delay, and then came some bad weather, so in all the picture is ten days behind schedule. Much as 20th wanted to give permission to Shirley and Gordon to fly to New York, there was a definite "no" given today.

Mari Blanchard is bedded with a bad cold. She caught it when someone stole her coat and she drove home from her lessons at a dance studio without anything around her.

Of all things; dignified Frank Lovejoy has succumbed to the bongo drums craze and is turning up nightly at Frascati's to get into Romeo and Bello's act.

Donald O'Connor is so enchanted by his trip to Europe that he's added an extra month and won't come back until Christmas, just in time to open at the Sahara in Las Vegas.

Ran into Lisa Kirk shopping, and she was a happy girl because Jimmy Durante liked the show she did with him so much he is advancing the date. She was with Pierre David, clothes designer.

Marvin Miller has been chosen to represent the TV industry for the promotion of National Bible Week Oct. 17. He brought me his "talking Bible," which he recorded.

Anne Baxter is spending a fortune on negligees and lingerie for her picture "The Come On." She's bought enough to keep Juel Park in business for a year.

'Dial M For Murder' To Be Staged Oct. 12

"Dial M For Murder," first presented on the stage in London in 1952, will be the first performance of the Barter Theatre in Cumberland, under the sponsorship of the Junior Association of Commerce.

The play will be given next Wednesday at Allegany High School at 8:30 p. m.

Edward F. Mullan Jr., chairman of the ticket committee for the local Jaycees, said that proceeds will go toward the purchase of two incubators for Sacred Heart Hospital.

"Dial M For Murder" has been a hit on stage, screen and television, being highly successful in New York, London, Paris, Rome and Stockholm.

The Barter Players will also present the play at Keyser High School on the night of October 13. The play is sponsored in Keyser by the Keyser Little Theatre group.

It will be the first of two plays to be presented in Cumberland during the 1955-56 season, and concerns the ingenious plotting of an ex-athlete to rid himself of his rich wife, mainly for monetary reasons.

The cast will feature Owen Phillips, who has appeared here often, and Jerry Hardin, who was selected in 1955 as the "Young actor of the year."

Other members of the cast are Jeannette Randall, George Baron, Del Close, Richard McKenzie and Warren Beckman.

The local Jaycees have sponsored the Barter troops here for nearly a decade.

The second Barter production will be on March 21 with the presentation of "Sabrina Fair."

Children Are Hurt In Area Mishap

Two children were hurt Wednesday in an auto collision on Old Furnace Road, two miles off West Virginia Route 28.

Treated at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser for minor injuries were Karen Kenney, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Oakley Kenney, Old Furnace Road, and Rebecca Jane Long, 10, daughter of Mrs. Nellie May Long, 35, also of Old Furnace Road.

Cpl. F. H. Tribbet, of the State Police detachment at Keyser, said the accident occurred at 5:30 p. m. on a curve. The road was wet and the left front section of both cars collided.

Mrs. Long was charged with failing to keep to the right of the center of the road.

Boy Sentenced In Car Theft

Two local boys were given hearings in Juvenile Court Wednesday in Elkins on charges of stealing an automobile.

The two boys, along with an 18-year-old companion, were arrested in Elkins September 26 after going on a driving spree in autos stolen from Cumberland, Oakland, McCumber, near Rowlesburg, and Elkins.

Magistrate Stanley Bosworth sentenced the one youth to the Industrial Home for Boys at Pruntytown, W. Va., and ordered the second held for action of the Grand Jury, which is scheduled to convene next Tuesday. The third was lodged in Randolph County Jail in Elkins under $1,000 bond for action of the Grand Jury on a charge of auto larceny.

The trio was arrested by West Virginia State Police after the auto they had stolen from the campus of Davis and Elkins College became stalled.

The series of car thefts started on September 25 when the three stole an auto from the rear of Memorial Hospital. The car was later found in Oakland by Tfc. Robert Henline.

Meanwhile another car, owned by Carmen M. Monda of Thomas, W. Va., was stolen from Oakland and later recovered at McCumber.

Police reported the trio then took another automobile belonging to Ralph Glover of Terra Alta from the location where the Monda car was recovered. Glover's car was found by Sheriff W. R. Schooley of Kingwood.

Police Investigating Two Reports Here

City Police are investigating two breaking and entering cases.

Mrs. Etta Peer, 16 Laing Avenue, reported that at 8 p. m. Wednesday someone attempted to enter her house. Mrs. Peer told police that a neighbor saw five boys in her yard, and chased them after they had broken a window.

Police are also investigating a breaking and entering at Tom's Cleaners, 219 Virginia Avenue. Police said that a window was broken, but entrance was gained through the front door. Nothing was reported stolen.

Will Attend Meet

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County public schools, will attend a meeting of county school superintendents Monday in Baltimore with Dr. Thomas G. Pullen, state superintendent of schools.

Repairs Being Made To Church Steeple

Damaged slate on the steeple of Kingsley Methodist Church, 242 Williams Street, is being replaced and a large cross erected on its top, Rev. Jacob H. Snyder, pastor, has announced.

The steeple, apparently damaged by storms, is being re-done in aluminum slating instead of the regular type, he added. Cost of the work will be $1,800.

The cross, which will replace a weathervane, is also of aluminum and measures five feet high and three feet across. From the level of the roof, the steeple to the base of the cross measures 46 feet, Rev. Snyder said.

The slate on the steeple was in disrepair and some of it ready to fall off.

Pre-Packaged Pineapple Ice Cream

The simplest of desserts is ice cream, but there pineapple ice cream is given drama of presentation. Brought to the table for all to admire, the pint-sized blocks are accented with a crushed pineapple sauce. Thin, leaf-shaped cookies with chocolate icing give color and flavor contrast.

Pre packaged pineapple ice cream will be available in pint and half-gallon cartons during the fall at food, drug and confectionery stores. Ice cream is a family standby, and a new flavor introduction such as pineapple keeps up the surprise element.

Party Pineapple Dessert

1 can (20 ounces) crushed pineapple; ¼ cup light corn syrup; ½ cup sugar; 3 pints pre-packaged pineapple ice cream.

Drain pineapple; if necessary, add enough water to make ½ cup.

Pineapple ice cream moves to the flavor fore during September and October. It is most widely distributed then to charm by its creamy smoothness and popular fruit touch. The recipes will be found elsewhere on this page.

Add corn syrup and sugar; cook, over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is dissolved. Boil 5 minutes. Cool; add pineapple. To serve, open pre-packaged ice cream; place on chilled serving platter. Put several spoonfuls pineapple sauce over top. Place *Leaf cookies around edge of platter. Pass remaining sauce. YIELD: 12 servings.

Leaf Cookies

½ cup butter or margarine; ½ cup sugar; 1 egg, well beaten; ¾ teaspoon vanilla; 1¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour; ½ taspoon baking powder; ¼ teaspon salt; 1 package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels; 1 tablespoon shortening.

Cream butter. Add sugar gradually and cream thoroughly until light and fluffy. Mix in egg and vanilla. Sift together flour baking powder and salt. Add to creamed mixture and blend well. Place leaf stencil on cookie sheet; spread cookie dough over cutter with spatula. Lift cutter carefully to keep shape of leaf. Bake in a moderate oven (350°F.) 10 minutes. Cool. Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels and shortening over hot, not boiling water. Carefully spread on cookies; place on waxed paper to harden.

YIELD: 3 dozen cookies.

Tomato Soup And Beef

Let beef mingle flavors with tomato soup and corn for a succulent main-dish. Cook ½ pound ground beef, ½ cup chopped onion, and ¼ cup chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons shortening until lightly browned. Stir occasionally to keep meat in bite-size pieces. Stir in 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup and 2 cups cooked whole kernel corn. Cook over low heat about 5 minutes. 6 servings.

Sizzling Pork Sausage For Good Fall Eating

It's the easiest thing in the world to turn to spicy pork sausage now that cool fall days are just around the corner and hotter meals are in order. Sausage lends itself well to any fall meal—from breakfast through dinner.

Right now, sausage, one of the most delicious and quick cooking pork meats, is plentiful so plan to serve it often. Here's an interesting autumn breakfast:

Tomato Juice
Sausage and Egg Nest
Cinnamon Toast
Coffee Milk

To prepare the sausage and egg nest, place fresh links in a cold skillet. Do not prick the skins. Add three tablespoons of water, cover the skillet and cook about five minutes. Uncover and drain off any water. Cook the links over low heat, turning often until well browned on all sides. Drain off all but a few tablespoons of fat. Fry the eggs in the spicy drippings. Serve the links embedded in the eggs on warmed plates.

Juicy brown sausage meat is every bit as welcome served for lunch as it is for breakfast. Here is a luncheon menu with this top performing pork meat as the main dish:

Crusty Sausage Cakes
Glazed Carrots
Heat Lettuce Salad
Raisin Muffins
Baked Apples
Coffee Milk

The crusty sausage cakes are prepared like this: Shape pork sausage meat into patties and dip into a slightly beaten egg, then roll in crushed cornflakes. Pan-fry slowly in a small amount of fat in a heavy skillet. Turn occasionally to brown evenly. Thoroughly cooked and well browned patties require about 15 minutes cooking time.

Don't slight zesty pork sausage in your plans for fall dinners. Here is a suggested menu:

Pork Sausage Upside-Down Pie
Buttered Green Beans
Assorted Relishes
Baked Pears Crisp Drop Cookies
Milk, Coffee or Tea

The upside-down pie is a hearty dish, rich with pork and a hot biscuit topping. Prepare it as follows:

Pork Sausage Upside-Down Pie

1 pound pork sausage meat
2 medium onions
1 can condensed tomato soup
1½ cup all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup lard
½ to ⅔ cup milk

Crumble sausage meat and pan-fry over low heat until well browned. Pour off fat. Remove meat to a greased 1½ quart casserole. Slice onions and cook in small amount of sausage drippings until soft and lightly browned. Place onions on top of meat and pour undiluted tomato soup over onions. Sift together flour, baking powder, and salt. Cut in lard with pastry blender. Stir in enough milk to make a dough easily handled. Turn out and knead about ½ minute. Pat dough to size to fit casserole. Place on top of meat mixture. Bake at 425°F. for 30 minutes or until biscuit dough is well browned and thoroughly cooked. Turn out on platter with meat and onions on top. Cut into wedges to serve. 6 servings.

Sausage Snacks

Sausage roll-ups are delicious between meals snacks, easy to prepare. To make them, use the pre-cooked sausage links or cook fresh sausage links. Wrap the well browned links in biscuit dough, pop into a hot oven for 12 to 15 minutes, and serve piping hot.

Divide in half the price you pay for a quart of pure milk — that's the per/pound cost for what nutritionists call "the most nearly perfect food." Compare it with the price per/pound of other — and often less nourishing — foods, and you'll see why the U. S. Department of Agriculture says you get more for your food dollar when you buy milk and dairy products.

Serve Pork Family Style And For Guest Meals, Too

No matter what the dinner occasion, pork can star as the meat course. If it's to be a filling, flavorful meal just for the family—perhaps one to balance the budget—choose low-cost, high flavored pork hocks.

If there's a party in the planning and you want to fuss a little, choose everybody's favorite—pork chops—and glamorize them by filling with a savory bread stuffing and baking with potato slices and tender carrots. Or braise the stuffed chops in a piquant orange sauce.

Stuffed Pork Chops And Vegetables

4 pork chops, cut 1¼ inches thick
½ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely chopped green pepper
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups bread crumbs
1½ cups water
4 tablespoons fat
6 medium potatoes
4 medium carrots

Have meat man slit chops from fat side to bone to form a pocket. Saute onion, green pepper, and celery in butter until lightly browned. Add 1 teaspoon salt and crumbs and moisten mixture with water. Fill pockets of chops and fasten with skewers or toothpicks. Brown chops in hot fat in a heavy skillet or other large utensil. All thickly sliced pared potatoes and cleaned whole carrots, to chops. Sprinkle 1½ teaspoons salt over meat and vegetables. Cover, and bake in a 325°F. oven 1 hour or until meat and vegetables are tender. Remove skewers from meat before serving. 4 servings.

With orange sauced and stuffed chops, serve fluffy mashed sweet potatoes and a green vegetable.

Stuffed Pork Chops, Orange Sauce

Stuff and brown four thick pork chops as in the above recipe. Prepare sauce as follows: Blend 3 tablespoons each, flour and melted butter or margarine; stir in 1 cup orange juice, ½ cup sauterne or other white table wine, and ¼ cup water. Cook, stirring, until mixture boils and thickens. Add ¼ cup brown sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange rind, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, and ½ teaspoon salt. Pour over browned chops, cover and simmer gently about 1 hour, or until chops are tender. Turn and baste chops occasionally. 4 servings.

Pork hocks contain good-size nuggets of flavorful lean meat and taste better after long slow cooking in water. In this recipe for pork hocks, the cooking water is used in the sauce.

Pock Hocks In Brown Sauce

4 pork hocks
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoon grated carrot
4 whole cloves
¼ cup fat
¼ cup flour
2 cups meat broth
Salt, pepper

Simmer hocks in water to cover 1½ to 2 hours, adding 1 teaspoon salt for each quart of water. When meat is tender, drain, reserving cooking water. Skin hocks, if you wish, and place in serving dish. Brown onion, carrot, and cloves in melted fat. Blend in flour and cook, stirring constantly over low heat, until flour browns. Gradually stir in 2 cups reserved cooking water, salt and pepper to taste. Cook, stirring, until sauce is smooth and thickened. Discard cloves; pour sauce over hocks before serving. 4 servings.

A spread for buttered hot toast: cream cheese blended to taste with ready-prepared apple sauce. Offer this to the Son and Heir as a between meal bite. Will he like it? Just try him!

Blue Cheese Pork Loaf Snacks

1 can pork loaf
½ cup blue cheese, crumbled (4-ounce pkg.)
2 tablespoons prepared mustard

Cut pork loaf into 8 lengthwise slices. Mix cheese with mustard and spread over slices. Broil 3 inches from source of heat until topping is bubbly and lightly browned, about 5 minutes. Cut each slice into 8 pieces and serve hot on cocktail picks. Makes 64 one-bite snacks.

Hearty Bacon Casserole

1 pound sliced bacon; 1 8-ounce package macaroni; ½ cup chopped onions; ¾ cup grated sharp cheese; 1 can tomato soup; 1 cup milk.

Break macaroni and cook in boiling salted water until nearly tender. Rinse; drain. Reserve four slices of bacon and cut remainder into half-inch crosswise slices. Brown cut bacon in skillet, then push to side of pan. Cook onions until soft in bacon drippings. Mix crisp bacon, macaroni, onion, cheese, soup and milk and pour into greased casserole. Place four slices of bacon on top and bake at 375°F. 25 to 30 minutes. Six servings.

Pork And Noodle Skillet

1 pound ground pork
½ cup chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chili powder
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
3 cups uncooked noodles
1 can tomato sauce

Brown pork and onions in a little hot fat. Add seasonings. Cook noodles in slightly salted water 10 minutes. Drain and add to pork with tomato sauce thinned with ½ cup of water. Cook over low heat 15 minutes; season to taste. Four servings.

Pork Balls With Fruited Noodles

1 pound ground pork; ½ cup soft bread crumbs; ¼ cup minced onions; 1 egg; ½ teaspoon nutmeg; 1 teaspoon salt; ¼ teaspoon pepper; flour; 2 tablespoons melted fat; 4 tablespoons flour; 3 cups bouillon or water; 1 teaspoon onion salt; 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce; ¼ cup raisins, rinsed; 4 ounces noodles, cooked.

Combine pork, crumbs, onions, slightly beaten egg, nutmeg, salt and pepper. Shape into 16 balls; roll in flour and blend well. Stir in bouillon, onion salt, Worcestershire sauce and a dash of pepper. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add balls, cover, and simmer 30 minutes. Mix raisins with noodles and serve topped with pork balls and gravy. Four servings.

Jelly Glazed Pork Loaf

1 can pork loaf
⅓ cup crabapple or currant jelly
2 teaspoons prepared horse-radish

Cut canned loaf into eight slices and place in a shallow baking dish. Mix jelly and horse-radish and spread on meat slices. Bake in a 400°F. oven 20 minutes. Four servings.

Unbeaten Allegany, Keyser Elevens To Clash Here Tonight

Hawks To Host Moorefield In PVC Contest

Salem Tigers Visit Potomac State For 2 P. M. Tilt Today

Allegany High's unbeaten Campers will clash headon with another undefeated titan of the high school football ranks tonight when Keyser High's Golden Tornado visits Fort Hill stadium for an 8 p. m. engagement with Coach Roy Lester's crew.

The Alco squad, hampered somewhat in drills this week because of rain the past two days following its Monday scrap with Hagerstown, has devoted much of its time to light practice with emphasis on timing.

Lester said Allegany held blocking and tackling drills on Tuesday and ran through new plays on Wednesday and yesterday with very little contact scrimmage.

Played Defensive Game

He noted that both Allegany and Hagerstown played very hard defensive games in the Monday clash which the Campers won 14-7, and added "our timing was off on the offense with too many fumbles and bad blocking in the line. We also need some work in pass protection to counter the aerial game of Keyser's quarterback, Scott Ward."

The Blue and White mentor noted that Allegany's running attack has been hampered also by the fact the team has played only two games because of the cancellation of the Bladensburg tilt earlier in the season.

Keyser, meanwhile, brings one of its strongest teams to Cumberland for the 40th clash between the two long-time rivals on the gridiron. The charges of Coach Fred "Tack" Clark have rolled past Charles Town, Parsons, Beall and Ridgeley and are 1-0 in the Potomac Valley Conference.

Injuries have sidelined center James Turbin of Keyser and Don Paye, Allegany quarterback. Don Perdew, AHS fullback, will not see action because of a death in his family. Otherwise both squads appear in good shape physically.

Allegany has won seven consecutive games from Keyser including last year's 18-6 triumph. The Tornado has not beaten AHS since 1946. The two teams played a 13-13 tie in 1947. The probable lineups for tonight's game:

Pos.	Allegany	Keyser
LE	Dick (16)	Black (26)
LT	Sterner (51)	Groves (33)

RG	Charuhas (11)	Beal (32)
RT	Brown (37)	Wells (34)
RE	Breedlove (17)	Shuck (21)
QB	Lease (21)	Ward (22)
LH	Fletcher (12)	Studenwalt (20)

Officials: Cavanaugh, Gaffney, Fahey, Blough.

Another important contest, Ridgeley High's Blackhawks will play host at 2:30 p.m. today to Moorefield's undefeated Yellowjackets who currently are leading the PVC.

Moorefield, winner 7-0 over Romney last week, pits its unblemished record of 4-0 against the dangerous Hawks who have lost only 13-7 to Keyser in four engagements.

Will Be 20th Meeting

The battle of the two PVC giants will be the 20th of the series with Moorefield holding a 9-8 advantage in wins with two ties.

On the college front Potomac State will battle Salem's Tigers at Keyser in another afternoon game beginning at 2 o'clock. The Catamounts, fresh from a 32-0 shellacking of Davis and Elkins College are favored to take the visitors who have dropped two contests without a win.

On Saturday Fort Hill High's Sentinels will take on Beall's Mountaineers in a night clash at the stadium and Romney will play against University High at Morgantown. St. Francis of Morgantown will be in Oakland to meet Southern, Terra Alta's unbeaten eleven is at Northern, Virginia Deaf will play West Virginia Deaf at Romney, also on Saturday.

Other Friday contests include:
Franklin at Petersburg (PVC).
Circleville at Hillsboro.
Parsons at West Union.
Hagerstown at Chambersburg.
Charles Town at Martinsburg.
Harpers Ferry at Berkeley Springs.
Bedford at Portage.

Freddy Wyant Nursing Cold

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Oct. 6 (AP)—Quarterback Freddy Wyant was nursing a heavy cold — and possibly a touch of influenza—today as West Virginia University's football team prepared to leave for Bluefield and the Virginia Military game.

Coach Art Lewis said he thought, however, that Wyant would be able to start Saturday afternoon's contest before a packed house in Bluefield's Mitchell Stadium.

Bill Rigney Signs Pact

Gets 2-Year Contract With N. Y. Giants

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP) — Billy Rigney formally signed a two-year contract as manager of the New York Giants today and said his first aim was to strengthen the club's two main weaknesses — pitching and second base.

The lean, gaunt-looking Californian, who succeeds Leo Durocher after managing the Minneapolis Millers to an American Assn. pennant and a Little World Series championship, said at a press conference his new job is "the biggest in baseball."

"It's got to be," he said, "after all, the fellow who left did quite a job. Filling his shoes is going to be quite an undertaking."

Indoor Game Is "Rained Out"

ALYMER, Ont., Oct. 6 (AP)—An indoor hockey game here last night was rained out.

The Indianapolis Chiefs of the American Hockey League were scheduled to meet the Aylmer Trojans in an exhibition in Memorial Arena, but the ice was ruined by rain falling through the aluminum-sheeted roof.

Shuffle Loop To Meet

The Allegany County Men's Shuffleboard League will hold a meeting tonight at 8:30 o'clock at the Purple Heart club. All teams and captains are urged to be present.

Stranahan And Ray Heins Lead Field In Eastern Open

Shoot Pair Of 5 Under Par 67's

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Former amateur star Frank Stranahan and dark-horse Ray Heins cashed in on sparkling approach shots today and vaulted into the first round lead of the Eastern Open Golf Tournament with five-under-par 67's.

Right on their heels with 68's were long-hitting Mike Souchak of Durham, N. C., and Mike Homa of Rye, N. Y.

Next among the sub-par shooters in the 72-hole chase for the $3,000 top prize of the $17,500 event over Baltimore's municipal Mt. Pleasant course were Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and little Frank Tenney of Annapolis, Md., each with 69.

Bracketed at 70, were Don Whitt of Alameda, Calif., Buster Reed, McKinney, Tex.; Art Wall Jr.; Pocono Manor, Pa.; Marty Furgol, LeMont, Ill.; Billy Maxwell, Odessa, Tex., and Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N. Y.

Veteran Ed Oliver of LeMont, Ill., and Canadian Open winner Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., were among a flock who carded 71 in this 43rd and last tournament of the Professional Golfers' Assn. season.

Tied with them were Bob Schoener Jr., Allentown, Pa.; John Jendrasak, Andy Gibson and Charlie Bassler of Baltimore; Bob Watson, Ardsley-on-Hudson, N. Y.; Ed Furgol, St. Louis; Charley Sifford, Philadelphia, and Dow Finsterwald, Bedford Heights, Ohio.

Bob Toski, of Livingston, N. J., defending titleholder of the Eastern Open, shot a 75 today.

Stranahan, muscular young product of Toledo, Ohio, dropped six short putts for birdies and bogeyed only the treacherous par-three 17th. The longest of these putts was an eight-footer on the first hole.

He approached within 18 inches of the pin on both the fourth and seventh, tapped in a two-footer on No. 10, and converted four-foot putts into birdies on the 14th and 16th.

Aggies, Valley To Clash Today In Soccer Loop

The two remaining undefeated elevens in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League will clash today at 3:30 p. m. at Flintstone where the Aggies will host the defending champion Valley High Black Knights.

Valley has defeated Mt. Savage 4-1 and Bruce 2-1 to lead the five-team circuit. Flintstone edged Beall 1-0 in its only start. Officials for the important encounter will be Raymond Ralston and Thomas Stafford.

In another WMI contest at 3:30 Mt. Savage's Braves, beaten by Valley and tied 1-1 by Beall, will strive for its first win against Bruce High's Bulldogs at Mt. Savage. Officials will be Enardo Arnone and Clifton Van Roby.

Frank Lane Signs Contract As St. Louis General Manager

Gets 3-Year Pact To Carry Out Policies

Dick Meyer Named Executive Vice President Of Club

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 6 (AP) — Frank Lane signed a three-year contract as general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals today and, wasting no time, said he hoped to name a field director for the club early next week.

The 59-year-old Lane, who resigned as general manager of the Chicago White Sox recently after rebuilding the club from a second division team into a pennant contender in seven years, said he would take over his new job immediately.

Lane said he had three men under consideration for the manager's job including Freddie Hutchinson, manager of the 1955 pennant winning Seattle club in the Pacific Coast League, and Harry (The Hat) Walker, the president Cardinal manager. Lane did not name the third prospect.

Hutch To Get Job

It was learned toni ,tghhowever, that Hutchinson, former Detroit Tiger pilot, will get the job. Hutchinson, who lives in Bradenton Beach, Fla., near Lane's winter home in St. Petersburg, has had preliminary talks with the new Redbird general manager and will confer with him again in a few days.

Although Hutchinson's contract with Seattle has two years to run, it carries a release clause if he can better his position.

August A. Busch, wealthy brewery owner and president of the brewery-owned Cardinals, announced Lane's appointment at a news conference. Busch said Lane will have "full authority."

There was no announcement on the salary Lane will receive but it was reported at more than the $40,000 base pay and $10,000 attendance bonus arrangement he had with the White Sox. His contract with the Cardinals also includes an attendance bonus.

At the news conference Busch announced that Dick Meyer, the retiring general manager who also is a top executive of the brewery headed by Busch, has been appointed executive vice president of the Cardinals.

The appointments were approved by the Cardinal board of directors immediately before the news conference.

Not Enough Time

Meyer told him some time ago, Busch said, that the time required by his duties as a brewery executive left him too little time to devote to his Cardinal duties.

Meyer suggested then that the Cardinal front office and minor league system be rreorganized and that "the best man available anywhere in the country" be hired as general manager for the club.

30 Dodgers Get Full World Series Share Of $9,768.21

34 Yanks Receive $5,598.58 Share

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP) — Each of the 30 world champion Brooklyn Dodgers voted a full share of the World Series melon receives $9,768.21 and each of 34 of the losing New York Yankees gets $5,598.58, Commissioner Ford C. Frick's office reported today.

The 1955 series brought a record total income of $2,337,515.34, the drop from the record players' share of last year being due to the difference in capacity of Ebbets Field and the Polo Grounds. Last year a full share for a winning player was $11,147.90.

The total players' share of the receipts of the first four games, the only ones in which they participate financially, was $654,853.59 with $83,000 from the pre-game television show bringing the total to $737,853.59. This was split 60 - 40 between the winning and losing teams.

The commissioner's office, which gets 15 per cent of the net from each game, received $350,627.30. The clubs and league offices were enriched by $1,332,034.45, representing 25 per cent of the receipts of the first four games and 85 per cent of the take for the remaining three.

Third place clubs (10 per cent): New York Giants and Chicago White Sox, $36,892.68 each.

Basilio To Defend Title On Nov. 30

Welter Champ Signs For DeMarco Rematch

BOSTON, Oct. 6 (AP) — Welterweight boxing champion Carmen Basilio and challenger Tony DeMarco today signed contracts for a Nov. 30 rematch of their summer slugfest at Syracuse where the title changed hands.

For the second straight time, Saxton relinquished his priority to meet the champion in exchange for a contract clause which provides for an undisclosed lump sum payment plus a match with the Basilio - DeMarco winner within 60 days.

DeMarco's reign lasted just 70 days from the April 14th round TKO of Saxton in the right set up for the Nov. 30 struggle.

Both boys are known best for a savage left hook attack. Basilio, 28, has won 47 fights, lost 11 and had seven draws. DeMarco's record is 41-5-1. DeMarco has knocked out 26 opponents and Basilio 21.

Navy And Pitt Expected To Pass In Game Saturday

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 6 (AP)—Navy can be expected to do a lot of throwing Saturday in its football game with Pitt and apparently expects some of the same if this week's practice sessions are an indication.

The Middies took to the air again this afternoon of their last heavy workout before the game. They drilled on pass offense and defense, stressed protection for the passer and practiced punts and punt returns.

They also ran through a general review of offensive and defensive assignments in the 1½ hour session. Tomorrow's drill is expected to consist of light exercises in sweatsuits.

The game, third of the season for Navy and the fourth for the Panthers, will be played in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

Traffic Judge Gets Invitation To International

Nashua, Helioscope, High Gun, Swaps Out

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Traffic Judge got a chance today to climax a stretch drive of his 3-year-old racing career with a victory in the Washington D.C. International after being overshadowed throughout the year by Nashua and Swaps.

Clifford Mooers accepted Traffic Judge's invitation to the Nov. 11 race which was extended after Nashua and Swaps became unavailable. Swaps was laid up after his losing match race with Nashua, who is to take a winter vacation before the International.

Two of the older handicap stars considered Laurel possibilities, High Gun and Helioscope, also withdrew to pave for the way for the appearance of Traffic Judge.

Eddie Arcaro, Nashua's regular jockey, rode Traffic Judge to victory last Saturday in the Woodward at Belmont and said afterward he is "the most improved horse in America today."

Arcaro last year rode C. V. Whitney's Fisherman, a last minute substitute for High Gun in the Laurel International, and won with him for the first victory of the U.S. in the mile and a half grass race.

Traffic Judge lost two close races to Nashua and Swaps in Chicago during the summer and then won the Ohio Derby, the Ventnor and the Jerome before the Woodward.

He has won seven of his 15 races and finished no worse than third in seven of them to earn $223,595.

Traffic Judge joins Panaslipper, the Irish Derby winner, and Darius, tops among the older horses in England, as entries for the $65,000 race. Panaslipper, who will run in the colors of the Irish Republic's president, is 3 years old and Darius 4.

Another U. S. horse and representatives from Canada, Germany and France are expected to be invited.

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 6 (AP)—Coach Jim Tatum put his top-ranked Maryland football squad through a light workout today and was cheered by the return of quarterback Frank Tamburello who has been out much of the week with a sore ankle.

Tamburello will be able to play Saturday when Maryland plays host to Wake Forest, Tatum said.

Not expected to see action are Lynn Beightol, No. 2 quarterback who is out with a knee injury, and Bill Walker, first string end who is still nursing an ankle injury.

Barnes, Collar Lead Receivers

Lynn Beightol 2nd In ACC Punting

GREENSBORO, N. C., Oct. 6 (AP)—Wake Forest's Bill Barnes, who caught only three passes in 10 games last season, and N. C. State's John Collar, a '54 freshman, today are running one-two in the Atlantic Coast Conference pass receiving race.

Barnes, fleet halfback, has caught 10 passes for 92 yards and Collar has caught seven for 79 yards. Julius Derrick of South Carolina, another sophomore, is third with six receptions.

Maryland's Bill Walker leads the ACC punting parade with an average of 46 yards on seven punts and teammate Lynn Beightol is second with an average of 39.3. North Carolina's Will Frye, like Walker an end, is third with a 38.7 average and set new ACC records with 11 punts and 412 in punting yardage against Oklahoma.

Duke's Jim Nelson, according to ACC service bureau figures, leads the conference in extra point kicking with six for seven and an accuracy percentage of .857. Charlie Bussey of Clemson is second with four for six and .667.

Olson To Defend Title On Nov. 4 Against Robinson

CHICAGO, Oct. 6 (AP)—Champion Carl (Bobo) Olson will defend his middleweight title against former champion Sugar Ray Robinson at the Chicago Stadium Friday, Nov. 4.

The 15-round bout will be televised nationally with an area of 150 miles around Chicago blacked out. It also will be broadcast nationally.

Jim Norris, IBC president, said Olson will received 35 per cent of all net receipts with Robinson getting 25 per cent. Each will share the same percentage of an undisclosed amount for TV-radio.

Olson, since his knockout by champion Archie Moore in a try for the 175-pound crown last June 22, has had two bouts. He defeated Jimmy Martinez Aug. 13 and Joey Giambria Aug. 26.

Robinson has had seven starts, losing one, since he abdicated the middleweight title Dec. 18, 1952.

Bucky Harris Signs To Pilot Detroit Tigers

Inks $40,000 Pact, Predicts 90 Wins

DETROIT, Oct. 6 (AP) — Bucky Harris signed a new $40,000 contract today to manage the Detroit Tigers, then surprised everybody by setting a lofty goal of 90 victories for next season.

"We improved 11 games this season. So why not 11 more next season," said Harris, who usually shies away from anything even remotely connected with a prediction.

"Don't you think you're going a little high?" asked President Spike Briggs of the Tigers.

"I don't think so," replied Harris. "If we're going to set a goal, let's make it a good one."

The signing of Harris to a one-year contract was expected. His prediction wasn't.

Harris, who will be 59 next month, led the Tigers to their best record since 1950 this past season, but failed to improve on their fifth-place showing.

Still, Detroit's progress was notable. The Tigers had a 79-73 record and finished 17 games out of first place. This compares to their 68-86 mark in 1954 when they were a sorry 43 games off the pace.

The Tigers also announced that Schoolboy Rowe, a brilliant pitcher for them in the middle 1930s, was being dropped as a coach.

Rowe had served as first base coach for the past two seasons. Briggs said Rowe would be given a managerial position in Detroit's minor league system, or be made a scout.

Two other coaches, Billy Hitchcock and Jack Tighe, were signed to new one-year contracts.

Briggs said several men are under consideration to take Rowe's place, but declined to name any of the prospects.

Miami, Notre Dame Clash In Grid Headliner Tonight

Army-Michigan Top Slate Tomorrow

[By The Associated Press]

Miami's long awaited shot at Notre Dame and the collision of high ranking, unbeaten Army and Michigan top the college football program this week.

The Florida school's long drive for a leading place in the football firmament comes to a head tonight when the Hurricanes play host to the Fighting Irish in the Orange Bowl before 75,800 fans.

This is the game Coach Andy Gustafson has been pointing for ever since the contract was made. The Hurricanes, beaten 14-6 by third-ranking Georgia Tech, and 34-0 victors over Florida State last week, are ranked 15th while the Irish are ranked fifth.

Irish Are Tough

Being a target is n) new experience for Notre Dame. Every team on the South Benders' schedule primes for the Irish, who take on the toughies week by week. Notre Dame is a 3-point choice in the latest odds to win its 11th straight. The Irish shut out their first two foes, beating SMU 17-0 and Indiana 19-0.

Army is rated an even bet against Michigan's Wolverines at Ann Arbor Saturday. A sellout crowd of 97,239 will see the Wolverines, ranked second nationally, attempt to score their first victory in six tries against the Cadets, who are ranked sixth.

Three other major tilts besides the Army-Miami clash are on the Friday night card. Oregon State plays at UCLA, Houston is at Detroit, and Missouri visits Southern Methodist.

Top-ranking Maryland, fat with its victories over UCLA and Baylor, settles down to Atlantic Coast Conference warfare Saturday in taking on battle-scarred Wake Forest, 46-0 losers to West Virginia.

Third-ranking Oklahoma (2-0) goes after its 22nd victory when it faces Texas (1-2). Oklahoma is favored by 7. Georgia Tech (3-0), fourth-ranked, journeys to Louisiana State (1-1-1) for a night game.

In another Southeastern-Southwest Conference brawl, eighth-ranking Texas Christian (3-0) is favored to whip Alabama (0-2) on the Crimson Tide's home grounds.

Ninth-ranked Wisconsin (2-0) visits Purdue (2-0) in a clash of all-winning Big Ten squads. Another meeting of unbeatens matches Southern California (3-0), 10th ranked, at Washington (3-0) in a Pacific Coast Conference contest.

West Virginia and Navy, both unbeaten and ranked just below Southern Cal, also are favored to win although Navy has a tartar in Pittsburgh at Baltimore. West Virginia hosts thrice-beaten Virginia Military.

Jackson To Seek 9th Straight Win

DETROIT, Oct. y (AP) — Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson shoots for his ninth straight victory tomorrow night in a nationally televised 10-rounder against Utah's Rex Layne.

The fight, from Olympia Stadium, will start at 9 p. m. (EST).

Jackson, a strong-backed 23-year-old New Yorker, has muscled his way into the No. 3 position among the "outstanding boxers" for Rocky Marciano's heavyweight tiele.

Included in his eight straight victories are two decisions over Ezzard Charles, the former heavyweight king. Jackson's overall record is 24-3-1.

Dodgers Are Now "World Champions"

BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 6 (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are baseball champions of the whole, wide world and they don't intend to let anyone forget it.

Heretofore telephone calls to the club's offices were greeted with a crisp, businesslike "Brooklyn Dodgers."

Thinking Cap Takes Lawrence Race At Belmont

NEW YORK, Oct. 6 (AP) — With Nashua scratched because of the heavy rains and muddy track, Christiana Stable's Thinking Cap sloshed to a four lengths victory over Westward Ho in the $27,300 mile and five furlongs Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park today.

Mrs. Gerard S. Smith's Sweet Chariot, the only other starter in the gruelling run, was another seven lengths astern.

The race lots its lustre when Nashua, the Belair Stud's great 3-year-old, was withdrawn. Nashua did not show to advantage in similar conditions in the Sysonby a week ago Saturday.

Thinking Cap ridden by Paul Bailey, was clocked in 2:44 2-5 under 114 pounds. Westward Ho, owned by Breckinridge Long, carried top weight of 122 pounds.

Phils Release Two

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 6 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies today announced the unconditional release of veterans Eddie Waitkus and Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey.

Williams Undecided Whether To Play

BANGOR, Maine, Oct. 6 (AP) — Ted Williams says he hasn't decided yet whether he'll be playing baseball again next season.

During a brief stopover yesterday on a flight from a New Brunswick fishing trip the Boston Red Sox outfielder said:

"You know, it's funny. At the end of every season it's the same thing. You swear this will be your last one, but when spring rolls around you get itchy again. Honestly, I just haven't decided yet."

Campbell Sails For United States

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Oct. 6 (AP)—Donald Campbell sailed for the United States today in a bid to break his present world water speed record of 202.32 miles per hour.

Campbell aims to set a new mark in his jet-turbo craft Bluebird on Lake Mead, Nevada, Oct. 16. Campbell's ship and his helpers already are in the United States.

Wigs began to be very popular in Europe when Louis XIII began to grow bald and turned to elaborate wigs which were imitated by his followers.

Freak TV Reception

Reception covering the eastern parts of U. S. A., and parts of Canada. Many wanted stations completely wiped out or unheard of stations coming in clear for periods of time.

- Many people on antenna's in the above areas have reported receiving clear pictures on all 12 channels for short periods of time, from hundreds of miles away.
- Very seldom does our special made antennas, which are 160 feet long, let in even a horizontal line from another station, however, when the atmospheric conditions get extremely favorable to distant stations, it shows up, on our cable system, in the form of horizontal lines or fade outs of either the picture or voice or both. These fade outs seldom last more than a few seconds, as our antennas and automatic gain controls take care of a ten time rise or drop of a normal signal strength, and will hardly be noticed on a TV set!
- If your reception is Normal except during these co-channel or fade-out periods, then the trouble is not in your TV set, nor is it in the cable system, but due to a temporary atmospheric condition beyond the control of anyone. Experts claim these temporary conditions can be caused by meter dust, sun spots and a layer of warm air above colder air.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

TOO HIGH-CARD-CONSCIOUS

SOME players who demand "sound" (in this case meaning excessive) high-card values for their opening bids have two faults in one: the fault of paying too much attention to high cards and too little to distribution; and the worse fault of crediting partner's opening bids with the aces and kings which they themselves would have in his place.

If this seems somewhat involved, it will be clarified by the following case:

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

♠ A J 10 7 6 2
♥ A 6 5
♦ 10 4 3

♥ Q J 10 7
♦ Q 6 2
♣ J 7 5 3

N W E S

♠ Q 8 5 3
♥ 9 8 2
♦ K J 7 5
♣ Q 2

♠ K
♥ K 4 3
♦ A 9 8
♣ A K 10 9 6 4

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	6 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

There was no chance worth mentioning for the slam contract, and the actual result was a two-trick defeat.

South, highly disgruntled, commented caustically about North's opening bid "on only two aces and one jack—nine high-card points." South insisted that since he himself had held two aces, three kings, and an excellent club suit, his own bidding had been beyond reproach.

Well, South was entitled to his opinion, but he would have trouble finding an expert who would agree with him. North's opening bid, based on a very fair six-card major suit in the 6-3-3-1 hand-pattern, was light of course, but it was a great deal sounder than South's bidding sequence. Certainly, North's rebids were not encouraging; so, after South announced his substantial holding by making a jump takeout to three clubs, he could well afford to go slowly.

With any one card of value removed from his hand, South would not have been justified in his first response; hence it is obvious that with North making minimum rebids at all times and denying support for clubs, South should have been dubious of getting up to even five clubs, let alone six notrump.

"I could complain better if you were a woman."

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our friends, neighbors, pallbearers and those who so kindly provided cars, for their many acts of kindness, expressions of sympathy and condolence, for their beautiful floral offerings, and those who in any manner assisted us at the loss of our beloved father, Antonio Ruffo.
The Family.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear husband, William R. Evans, who passed away October 7, 1952.
Oh what I would give to hold your hand.
Your happy face to see;
To hear your voice and see your smile,
Which meant so much to me.
No one knows my heartache,
No one sees me weep,
I shed my tears with a broken heart,
While others are asleep.
The flowers I place upon your grave,
May wither and decay.
But my love for you, my beloved,
Will never fade away.
I have not lost you,
You are only away.
Sadly missed by your wife,
Mrs. Amanda Evans
1317 Lynn Avenue,
Turtle Creek, Pennsylvania.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, Robert W. Fleek, who died October 7, 1947.
To those who have a father
Tender him with care,
You do not know his value,
Until you see his vacant chair.
Sadly missed by Wife, Daughters & Son.

EUB Church Ministers Re-Assigned

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 6 (AP) — Eleven changes in ministerial appointments were announced tonight as pastors and lay delegates from the 140 churches of the Pennsylvania Conference of the Evangelical United Brethren Church concluded their 167th annual meeting.

The changes resulted mostly from a death, two retirements, and a leave of absence among the pastors serving churches in Maryland, the District of Columbia, and south central Pennsylvania.

The Rev. Joseph H. Yeakel, who has been assistant pastor of St. Paul's church in Hagerstown, was transferred to Fifth Church at York, Pa., to replace the Rev. Paul V. Cunkle, granted a leave of absence.

The Rev. M. Eugene Fisher, recent seminary graduate who was ordained at the conference's afternoon session, was named to succeed Yeakel as assistant pastor at St. Paul's. The new minister's father, the Rev. Dr. John W. Fisher, already is pastor of Emmanuel Church here.

The Rev. Bernard E. Fogle, another recent seminary graduated from Frederick, Md., who also was ordained today, was assigned to Jefferson, Pa. He replaces the Rev. George C. Daugherty, who retired.

The Rev. Monroe Shearer Jr., who has been pastor on the Red Line, Pa., circuit, was transferred to Spring Run, Pa., to fill the vacancy created by the death of the Rev. J. T. Jarrell.

The Rev. Leon L. Desenberg, newly ordained pastor from Emigsville, Pa., was assigned to Red Line to succeed the Rev. Mr. Shearer.

The Rev. Desenberg has been serving the Gettysburg - Salem church and he will be succeeded there by the Rev. Wilbur F. Lantz, a ministerial probationer.

The Rev. Calvin G. Kipp, a newly ordained seminary graduate, was assigned to Lemasters, Pa., to succeed the Rev. W. C. Wachter, retired.

Donald S. Burkhart, a college student, was appointed pastor at West Hill, Pa. Elmer P. Shambaugh, who has been serving there, was relieved in order to enter the seminary.

The Rev. John H. Ness Jr., who has been pastor at Mont Alto, was assigned to Manchester. The Rev. D. R. Fair, who has been at Manchester, was sent to Shepherdstown. The Rev. Edgar E. Spatz, who has been pastor at Shepherdstown, went to Mont Alto.

THOMAS GREENHORN

LONACONING — Thomas Greenhorn, 62, former resident, died at his home at Hyattsville, after suffering a heart attack.

Mr. Greenhorn, who lived on Douglas Avenue before moving from the community about 35 years ago, was well-known in this area and has visited here frequently.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Rose Greenhorn; a daughter, Alice, at Johnstown, Pa.; and a sister, Mrs. Alice Jean Niner, Arlington, Va.

Squirrel Visits Court House With Youth

An 18-year-old Cumberland youth went to the Court House Wednesday to obtain a hunters license and he had in his possession a squirrel.

But he was not guilty of illegal possession of game—because the squirrel was very much alive.

The youth, Fred Yeager, 619 Greene Street, found the bushy-tailed creature more than a month ago near his home. The squirrel became as tame as a dog and Yeager lets him perch on his shoulder on trips about the city.

ized that a better program, stronger curriculum and better administration could be realized with one school twice as large as the two smaller institutions, he said.

Economy is a factor, since the state allows the county funds for bus transportation, and there is also a savings to the county in textbooks, class room equipment and many other items. The county will save money in the long run, he declared.

Harper emphasized that there has been no disorder so far as the students are concerned, and none is expected from them. "We have asked the police to look after the situation because we do not want any of the children to get hurt or in trouble." Harper said he was aware that parents held a meeting, but he said no solution to the protest has yet been decided upon.

He did say that keeping the children out of school is not a good answer.

He stated the situation seems confined to Davis and there has been no confusion at Thomas and no classes anywhere have been disrupted except for the absence of

Television And Radio

Poor Show

That was the first and just conceivably the last World Series to be televised in color. Something has got to be done about sports events in color. I have now seen a fight, a tennis match and a World Series in color and none of them has been nearly as effective as plain old black and white.

In some of the Series games, the catcher and batter—two fairly important people—seem to be standing in pools of blackness. Only by switching to a closeup of the batter could you see him at all. It seems strange that you get such expert camera work on any ball game all year long; then comes the World Series, the biggest sports event we have, and the camera work gets amateurish. The boys kept missing plays that are routine to the regular crews the rest of the season.

Nothing seemed as clear and as sharp as in black and white and there were occasional inexcusable bursts of just nothing at all. Something has got to be done. Maybe we should go back to black and white and forget the whole thing.

A little girl who was allowed to stay up late to see NBC's color spectacular of "Heidi" fidgeted through an hour of it and then said: "Daddy, there's something wrong. I don't know what it is.

Well, there were quite a lot of things wrong with that show, but I think I know what the little girl had in mind. Jeannie Carson, the English girl, who played Heidi, simply isn't a little girl; she does not look like a little girl and never should have been cast in the part. If you havn't got a little girl, then you haven't got Heidi, one of the great classics of everyone's youth.

If Max Liebman is going to tackle the classics, he's got to do better than this. Heidi is a story a lot of us cherish; it is pure unadorned schmaltz and, when you do schmaltz, you have to believe in it; you have to start out with tears in your eyes. The NBC production, it seemed to me, was trying to put a veneer of sophistication on what is essentially a very simple-hearted story and it landed flat on its face.

It's a shame, too, because no story lends itself to color television much better than this one. The color was lovely. But very little else was.

"An audience," said Audrey Meadows, a very important part of the Jackie Gleason show, "can change your timing from what it was at rehearsal. Sometimes you find that a joke needs a beat after a straight line. Some jokes don't take that beat. It's something you feel."

It is precisely for that reason that I think Jackie Gleason was out of his wits to switch from live to filmed television. "The Honeymooners" is one of the best written and acted shows on television. But it's the kind of comedy that needs an audience and needs live production. What it doesn't need is film editing, an art that adds an awful lot to some shows and takes a lot away from others.

In front of an audience, Gleason and Meadows knew exactly how long to take just eyeing one another belligerently before breaking the tension. There was a tremendous feeling of participation between the cast and the audience that communicated itself to the home viewers. It's gone. It does not seem like the same show without it.

Pilgrimage Planned To IOOF Home

Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges of Allegany County will make the annual homecoming pilgrimage to the Odd Fellows Home at Frederick Sunday.

A chartered bus will leave Westernport Sunday at 8 a. m., stopping in Cumberland to pick up passengers at 8:45 a. m. The stop here will be at the corner of Baltimore and Mechanic Streets.

An interesting program has been arranged for Homecoming Day at the home with drills and exhibitions arranged by different branches of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. The home is maintained by Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges throughout Maryland for the care of aged members.

Sanders Angelea, installed as sovereign grand master of the worldwide organization last month in Chicago, will be the principal speaker in the afternoon.

Mason Again Heads County Dairy Group

John T. Mason, of Cresaptown, was re-elected president of the Allegany County Artificial Breeders Association at a meeting this week.

Elected to the board of directors were Granville Shumaker, Daniel Light, Edward Rephan and Charles Brinker. C. D. Miller was elected a director for the Maryland Artificial Breeders Association as a representative from this county.

Harry Miller, technician for the county group, reported a slight increase in the number of dairy cows bred by the artificial insemination process during the past year. Their were 1,159 dairy cows bred by the association.

Dr. Edwin Weatherby, manager of the state group and also an official at the University of Maryland, reported on the bulls at the university which are utilized for the artificial insemination program. He also gave the latest information on the operation of the program in Maryland.

Protest Strike Waged By Davis High Students

Oppose Merger With Thomas

Students and parents of Davis, W. Va., are staging a "strike" in protest of the consolidation of Davis High School with Thomas High School, and Thomas Junior High School with Davis Junior High School, it was reported here last night.

A total of 67 Davis students of the 10th, 11th and 12th grades remained away from classes yesterday, spokesmen said.

The merger plan was worked out by the Tucker County Board of Education during the summer months and was announced to the parents and students shortly before the September term began.

The Board of Education has been transporting junior high school students from Thomas to Davis by school buses. Then the Davis children for the three top high school grades are transported to Thomas to attend classes. Thus Davis is left without a high school and has only a junior high school, while Thomas is without a junior high school, but has a larger student body in its high school.

Protest Is Filed

According to Gilbert Smith, a Davis business man who is among a number of civic leaders interesting themselves in the problem, a group of Davis and Thomas citizens appeared at a meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday, protesting the merger of the schools.

He explained that the Board of Education, on August 4 combined the student bodies, making Thomas a senior high and Davis a junior high. "Davis people feel," he added, "that they have not had a fair deal due to the fact that the school board withheld all information of the proposal and the change until after the board's resolution for the merger had been passed and final action taken.

"After the people of Davis investigated," Smith continued, "they learned that it costs more under the present consolidation system than it did to operate as separate high schools. Therefore," he avers, "it was not economy."

Smith declared, "People as a whole did not favor the change. Davis had the first high school in Tucker County, established in 1902, and had the first gymnasium 18 years before any other county community had one," he concluded.

"Camping Out"

The children who are staying out of school, counted yesterday at 67 from Davis and the Dry Fork District, are encamped during school hours in three large tents, just opposite the Davis School building. From four to seven parents have remained with them all the time.

Observers said they are attempting to do some studying, and have made no effort to enter the Davis school building or to disrupt classes there.

An effort was made yesterday to persuade other students to join the protest strike. Davis business people furnished the strikers with a noonday meal, and reported that the students are quiet and well-behaved. Some of the junior high school students joined the older strikers yesterday to voice their protests.

West Virginia State Police, at the request of parents, were on duty throughout the day, with an augmented patrol at the time of school opening and dismissal.

Last night, a meeting of a number of interested parents was held at the Davis Tourist Home, and the parents there decided that their children could remain on strike until some satisfactory answer is some students. His estimates were "about half of the Davis students."

Harper said it had become increasingly difficult to conduct an adequate high school program at either Thomas or Davis with only about 85 students in each school. With the towns only two miles apart, the Board of Education real-

Brotherhood Donates Books To Schools

Local 1028 of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes yesterday presented copies of an illustrated history of the brotherhood to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster to be placed in the library of each high school in the county, both senior and junior. Pictured, left to right, at the presentation are C. R. Flora, chaplain; Willard A. House, past president and present recording secretary; Walter R. House, secretary-treasurer, making the presentation; Joseph H. Wagner, grievance committee chairman, and Webster. The history was prepared by D. W. Hertel, who is assistant to the president of the brotherhood. John M. Galliher, president of Local 1028, was unable to be present for yesterday's ceremony.

Men And Boys Will Vie In Log Cutting Contest

Can men or boys cut logs faster?

That question will be settled insofar as Allegany County is concerned during a log bucking contest at the Union Grove camp grounds next Thursday as one of the features of the county's observance of Maryland Land Week.

A $10 prize will be given to the champion log cutting team and a $5 award to the runners-up, according to Floyd Buser, who is chairman of the Land Week committee.

Each of four rural high schools in Allegany and Garrett counties will select its best team for the Union Grove contest. They will come from Flintstone, Oldtown, Northern and Southern Garrett County high schools. The best of the four teams then will match saws with the best of the adult teams.

This contest will be conducted between noon and 1 p. m. next Thursday.

Several other additions were made to the program, which is designed to let the city folks know something about the various conservation steps which the county farmers are taking to preserve the soil and water resources. Farmers and townspeople are invited.

Between 11:30 a. m. and noon at Union Grove, Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, will present a fire prevention demonstration. Then, from 1 until 1:30 p. m., Ronnie McPhail, a student at Piney Plains School, will perform a turkey calling routine as part of a wildlife program arranged by Ernest Ogden, wildlife field superintendent for the Game and Inland Fish Commission.

The day's activities will start with a land judging contest on Ralph Ferguson's farm at Union Grove. A team of 10 boys will represent Flintstone, Oldtown, Northern and Southern high schools.

Between noon and 1 p. m., the Union Grove Homemakers will serve lunch at the camp grounds. From 1:30 until 3 p. m., there will be a tour of Ferguson's farm to see contour strip cropping, diversion terraces, pasture improvement, forestry practices and poultry management.

At 3:30 p. m., Wendell R. Tascher, extension soil conservationist for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, will speak at Union Grove. At 4 p. m. Paul M. Galbreath, another extension soil conservationist, will report the winners of the land judging contest.

Mystery Smell Evidently Seeped From Tank Truck

The strange odor, noticed so much by local residents Wednesday afternoon, evidently was a chemical which seeped from a tank truck that traveled through the city and went out Route 40 east.

One of the members of the City Police Department said that while he was traveling west on Polish Mountain in the latter part of the afternoon he noticed a tank truck stopped along the highway.

He said that after slowing the car and passing the truck, he "really got a good whiff" of the chemical, and detected it en route back to Cumberland.

600 Attend Open House

Some 600 persons filed through the Cumberland telephone building last night to see what makes this city's dial center tick.

Members of the telephone company staff were on hand to show customers the intricate machinery which has been installed to operate the two Parkview exchanges.

They also saw the new power plant which converts commercial power to voltages needed, the perforating machine which punches out records of direct distance dialing and the master test frame which punches out cards showing the source of trouble in the system.

Another open house will be held tonight from 7 to 9:30 o'clock.

Grand Jury May End Duty Today

The grand jury for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court, in session since Monday, is expected to end its investigations into county crime today.

Dalton Major of Lonaconing is serving as foreman of the grand jury.

Carroll Hall Auditorium Renovation Job Under Way

The auditorium of Carroll Hall, North Centre Street, is now undergoing renovation, which includes a repainting job, re-wiring and repairs to the stage.

Brother G. Nicholas, a member of the faculty of LaSalle High School, who is in charge of the work, yesterday said the project is expected to be finished by November 1.

The "face-lifting" of the auditorium will be finished in time for the annual Men Of LaSalle minstrel which this year will be held November 13, 14 and 15.

Brother Nicholas pointed out that the ceiling and sections of the walls have been re-plastered and the first coat of paint applied by a local contractor.

The walls are of a peach and terra cotta color scheme. The stage is being finished off in an elaborately decorative motif.

A new floor will also be constructed on the stage with the front section of that part of the auditorium being replaced. A new arch is being placed on the stage and in the rear of the stage new ladders are being constructed.

New wiring and new switches on the switchboard are replacing old appliances. After the painting work is done the floor of the auditorium and the front vestibule will be re-tiled, and the entrance doors refinished.

New windows are being placed in the auditorium and the frames repainted. The cost of the renovation work, estimated between $6,000 and $7,000 will come out of school funds, Brother Nicholas said.

He also said that tentative plans call for a new public address system in the auditorium. Last year the Men Of LaSalle painted the stairway and bottom corridor leading to the auditorium.

High Weather Station Opens

Probably the highest weather station in the East was opened Wednesday at New Germany in Garrett County, according to District Forester William H. Johnson.

Johnson said a Weather Bureau representative from Baltimore who was with him in Garrett County believes the New Germany station is the first in the entire east more than 2,000 feet above sea level. The altitude at New Germany is about 2,500 feet.

Harland Upole, who is superintendent of the New Germany recreation area, will serve as weather observer. He will notify Baltimore twice each day on his observations. He will record the dry bulb and wet bulb temperatures, the dew point, maximum and minimum temperatures, sea level pressure, pressure tendency, wind direction and velocity, amount of various cloud types, visibility and the amount of precipitation.

Man Is Arrested On Rape Warrant

A man booked as Earl Dolly, 28, of Upper Homewood Addition and Waverly Terrace, was picked up here yesterday by city police and is being held in County Jail.

He was arrested on a statutory rape warrant issued yesterday by Magistrate J. Milton Dick to Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty, who said the charge involves a 12-year-old girl.

The Forty Hours Devotion will begin at St. Patrick's Church here Sunday.

Solemn High Mass will be celebrated at 8:30 a. m. with Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of the church, as celebrant, Rev. John U. Lyness, deacon, and Rev. Arthur Bastress, sub-deacon.

City Has 14,773 Registered Voters

The number of registered voters in the City of Cumberland stood at 14,773 on October 1 as a result of a net loss of 17 voters during September.

Registration activity in September included the registration of one new voter, and the removal from the lists of the name of one voter who moved outside the city.

The names of 17 voters, 15 men and two women, who died recently were stricken from the books.

Library Stresses Fire Prevention

The Cumberland Free Public Library has arranged a display for Fire Prevention Week which starts Sunday.

"Fire," a book about a fictional fire which lasted 11 days, written by George R. Stewart, is on display.

Auto Club Will Elect

The Potomac Valley Auto Club will elect officers at a meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA.

Members also will make further plans for the construction of a race track and drag strip on a 43-acre field which has been made available to the club on State Route 36 off US Route 40.

Applications for membership in the club also will be received at the meeting Tuesday night, and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Several members of the club took part in summer stock car races at Deep Creek Lake, at Winchester, Va., and at Everett, Pa., and some are still taking part in the Virginia and Pennsylvania meets.

Drivers and mechanics who raced this summer were Bud and Buck Cunningham, Car No. 57; Glenn Hill and Bob Hendrickson, No. 7; Dan Rafferty, No. 23; Bill DeSoto and Jim Donahue, No. 1; Whitey Mills and Les Garlick, No. 56, and Milton Sarver, No. 5.

Firemen Called As Gas Spills From Storage Tank

Volunteer firemen of LaVale were summoned yesterday morning when gasoline from one of the huge storage tanks of the Clopper Gulf Service, Narrows Park, spilled out into the concrete retaining pit constructed under the tank.

Although no blaze resulted, the firemen were notified since gasoline fumes were prevalent and it was feared a fire would develop.

Fire Chief W. Bruce Long, of the LaVale department, pointed out that the concrete retaining walls constructed under the tank are for the purpose of keeping gasoline which may spill from spreading over the surrounding area.

Firemen siphoned the gasoline back into barrels. The volunteers received the call about 10 a. m.

Automobile Plunges Over Embankment

No one apparently was injured early yesterday morning when an auto left the highway along Route 40 in the vicinity of Clarysville Inn and plunged down over an embankment.

Full details were not available from State Police who said that apparently no one was hurt. Considerable damage was done to the vehicle. Investigating officer was Trooper Robert G. Wolford.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold child hygiene clinics today at 9:30 a. m. in Bowman's Addition and at 10 a. m. in Mt. Savage. A chest clinic will be held from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

Unattended Tots Can Be Victims Of Home Fires

Instructions Given For Baby Sitters

In reminding local residents of Fire Prevention Week, October 9-15, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker, warns parents never to leave young children at home alone.

More and more youngsters are being trapped and killed by fire because no one was on hand to lead them to safety. Chief Parker said children at home unattended would be completely helpless in case of fire or any other emergency.

The week's observance is sponsored by the National Fire Protection Association in cooperation with the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

The following special warning is issued to parents:

Never leave your children unattended. And be absolutely certain that your baby sitter is trained and capable of protecting your children in the event of an emergency.

It's very important that the sitter be thoroughly fire-conscious; that she never sleeps while on the job; and that she knows the location of front and back exits, stairs and porches, and the most direct route from children's rooms to the outside.

Make sure the sitter knows the location of the nearest fire alarm box Show her where the phone is and make it easy for her by prominently posting the telephone numbers of the fire and police departments and doctor on or near the phone.

The baby sitter should know that at the first whiff of smoke or gas, she should immediately gather up the youngsters and get them out of the house.

And tell her not to waste time dressing the kids—wrap them in a blanket and get them out at once. When the children are safely away from the house, the sitter should then call the fire department, by pulling a fire alarm box or by phoning from a neighboring house.

Ratification Vote Planned

BALTIMORE, Oct. 6 (AP)—Members of the Maryland Telephone Union, Inc., will meet here tomorrow night to consider ratification of a tentative agreement with the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Co.

The meeting was announced by the independent union's president, Mrs. Margaret Weiss. The union represents about 3,800 switchboard operators in Maryland.

Mrs. Weiss said the agreement was reached about 2 a.m. Wednesday and averted a strike called for 10 a.m. The walkout would have affected every major phone exchange in Maryland except those in the immediate area of Washington, she said.

Terms of the agreement were not announced pending ratification.

However, Mrs. Weiss said it includes a new pay scale and work schedule.

Negotiations had been under way for about 60 days. The union's old contract had expired Oct. 3, but the operators continued to work under the old agreement.

Celanese Official Cites Fire Danger

Henry A. Johnson, assistant safety director of the Charlotte, N. C., office of the Celanese Corporation of America, presented an appropriate program on "Fire Facts" at yesterday's meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club.

His remarks about fire danger were considered timely because Fire Prevention Week starts Sunday.

On the table before him Johnson displayed a triangle. The three sides were labeled fuel, air and heat, which together cause fire. Although he cited a number of constructive uses of fire, Johnson conducted a number of experiments which caused fires or explosions. He was assisted by Magnus W. Work, local safety engineer with Celanese.

CONVENTION SPEAKER — Joseph F. Leopold, Chicago, will be one of the speakers at the 19th annual convention of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents here October 16-18. A spokesman for the National Tax Equality Association, he will discuss "The income tax disparity between stock and mutual companies." Some 300 fire and casualty insurance agents of Maryland will attend the three-day meeting.

House Wrecker Starts Razing Old Buildings

Plan For Burning Structures Dropped

T. A. Brabson, Star Route, Frostburg, is in the process of tearing down four old dwellings along and near Cherry Place to make room for the parking lot to serve the congregation of First Presbyterian Church.

The old buildings were purchased by the church from the Lowndes estate. They originally were used as stables but were converted to dwellings.

Last week, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker inspected the buildings along with Rev. Maurice D. Robertson, the pastor, and Lewis J. Ort, president of the church board of trustees. At that time it was suggested that the buildings might be burned down in a controlled burning operation to serve as training for city firemen.

A number of objections were raised to that plan because of the nearness to valuable Washington Street property after it was reported last week. Several persons offered to tear down the buildings at no cost to the church in order to get the building materials.

One of them was Brabson, who eventually entered into an agreement with the church. Brabson plans to use some of the materials to construct farm buildings. The wrecker told the church leaders that he might have the structures removed within two weeks, but certainly by the end of October. One building already is gone and he is razing the second.

School Surveyed At Cresaptown For Addition

Cresaptown School was surveyed yesterday afternoon by Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster and S. Russ Minter, local architect, as a preliminary to the drawing of plans for locker and shower rooms for both boys and girls.

Webster said they agreed that the addition should be at the rear of the school but were undecided as to whether it should be one story or two stories high. Funds for the work will come from an $800,000 loan which will supplement the current $3,500,000 school building program in the county.

Meanwhile, the superintendent continues to look for a suitable site for the proposed new elementary school for the Bowman's Addition area.

Divorce Granted

Atomic Age Challenges Rec Leaders

Anticipate 30-Hour Work Week By 1975

Recreation leaders expect the atomic age to bring more leisure to everybody but themselves.

Robert E. Pence, city recreation director, said delegates to the 37th National Recreation Congress, which met last week in Denver, are ready to meet the challenge.

Leaders at the meeting, he said, predicted that by 1975 atomic power and automation will result in the reduction of the American week to 30 hours.

When the time comes, he said, the role of recreation will be even more important than it is now, since people will have more leisure time.

Won't Share Leisure

Recreation workers, he added, do not plan to share in the new leisure but instead believe the additional needs for leisure activities will add 10 hours to their work week.

Pence said the leaders did not attempt to estimate how the shorter work week would come — by fewer hours a day or by a four-day week.

If it results in a Friday through Sunday weekend, national and state parks will have to bear an ever increasing responsibility in public recreation.

He said public parks have in recent years been increasing their facilities, both for overnight camping and family recreation.

Cited for their contributions to recreation in this area were the expansion of recreation facilities in Shawnee Park, Blackwater Falls and Deep Creek Lake.

Coordination Needed

It will be exceedingly important, he added that all recreational agencies cooperate to meet the needs of the future.

In most communities, from 40 to 50 different agencies sponsor recreational programs.

The important thing, he added, will be for all organizations to coordinate their efforts so no age group will be neglected.

Another problem, he said, will be to expand recreational facilities, such as playgrounds and parks, to meet the increased demand for leisure activities.

Getting Out Of The Mud

Structures of Cumberland's $2,000,000 sewage treatment plant are rising out of the mud as the contractor tries to get all foundations in before cold weather hits. The aerial view of the big project shows, in the left foreground, the two primary clarifiers, where the treatment is completed except for chlorination. The two big structures in the center background are the digestion tanks, where bacteria will act on the sewage. The levee which protects the plant site from floods can also be seen. Foundations for sludge beds and other structures will be laid before the end of the month. Work now can continue throughout the winter.
